BILL 'BACKWARD STEP'

. . . Republican Dislikes GOP Voting Proposal

Washington (UPI) — The key House Republican on civil rights issues told Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell Tuesday that the administration's voting rights bill represents a backward step which will embitter Negroes.

With Mitchell seated in the witness chair before him, Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, condemned Mitchell's opposition to his and Judiciary Committee liberals' proposal for a simple five-year extension of the 1965 voting rights act under which 800,000 Deep South Negroes have been registered to vote.

States Covered

The 1965 law covers only six Deep South states and part of North Carolina. The Nixon administration proposals would broaden the law to cover all the states but eliminate some provisions which liberals contend are vital.

McCulloch, ranking Republican on the committee, and Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., its chairman, said later that the Nixon administration bill was dead. They said they had the votes for committee approval of a bill extending the 1965 law, which expires next year.

McCulloch said the administration proposals "sweep broadly into the area where the need is least and retreat from those areas where the need is great. That is not the kind of civil rights legislation that gives hope to black America."

Opposition to the administration proposal centers on a change in the law's Section 5 under which the seven affected states are now required to win Justice Department approval before adopting or changing laws which would affect voting or registration.

The administration bill would give the attorney general power to file suit locally if changes in the laws were believed intended to disenfranchise Negroes.

But McCulloch argued that the present system had important advantages. Under it, the burden of proof is on local officials to show that the new laws are not discriminatory. Court suits over such proposed laws are heard in the U.S. District Court in Washington which, he said, is "not unfriendly" to the cause of civil rights. And remedies would be quicker since court suits take so much time, he said.

'Ghetto Negro' Forgotten

Mitchell, in his testimony, replied that simply to continue the present law's application only to Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia and some counties of North Carolina "leaves the under-educated ghetto Negro as today's forgotten man in voting rights legislation."

In any event, Mitchell said, Southern officials have ignored the law's requirement for prior approval from Washington. "They pass them (new laws) into effect and require the Justice Department to discover them and bring suit," he said.

McCulloch said this was no grounds for dropping the requirement.

To remove the law's "regional" overtones, the administration bill would outlaw literacy tests for voting throughout the nation.

'Remedy For No Wrong'

But, argues McCulloch, "the administration creates a remedy for which there is no wrong . . . and leaves grievious wrongs without adequate remedy."

Mitchell's reply was that literacy tests in the North could be used to disenfranchise Negroes in the big cities. He urged Congress "not to permit the Negro citizens outside the South to be forgotten."

After the hearing, Celler was asked if he agreed with reports that the administration's proposals were made to pay off election debts to the South. "I'm inclined to believe that is true," he said.

THEIR PROTESTING IS OVER

Two of five women protesting the Vietnam war are forcibly removed from the White House grounds Tuesday. One member of the Washington Park Police lifts one woman through the northwest fence gate while two other policemen begin to remove another protester behind the fence.

DOCTORS SAY . . .

Astronauts 'In Shape'

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — Doctors pronounced the Apollo 11 astronauts in excellent health Tuesday for this month's lunar landing adventure, and a critical countdown rehearsal at the launch pad moved smoothly toward a mock blastoff Wednesday.

"The crew appears to be in excellent physical shape. They look amazingly relaxed as of today," Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief astronaut physician, said after all results were in from a three-hour examination of astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

After the visit with the doctors, the three astronauts climbed into trainer spacecraft to rehearse landing on the moon and the rendezvous between the Apollo 11 command ship and lunar landing craft in moon orbit.

Rehearsal Continues

Launch crews continued a crucial countdown rehearsal, aiming for the Wednesday mock blastoff needed to clear the way for the final countdown to begin July 10.

Thursday, after tons of fuel are unloaded from Apollo 11's 363-foot-tall rocket and spacecraft combination, the astronauts will climb aboard the moonship to practice the final hours of the countdown.

The Apollo 11 launch is scheduled for July 16, with the moon landing July 21.

The astronauts will leave behind on the moon, in addition to an American flag, an inscribed plaque bearing a map of the earth.

The inscription, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said in Washington Tuesday, will be as follows:

"Here men from planet earth first set foot upon the moon. We came in peace for all mankind."

Plans for leaving the plaque, as well as the U.S. flag, were disclosed in a letter from NASA to Rep. Joe L. Evins, D-Tenn.

The plaque, NASA said, will bear signatures of President Nixon and members of the Apollo 11 crew and will be mounted on the side of the descent stage of the lunar module.

YOUTHFUL PATRIOTS STAGE PARADE

Showing their patriotic spirit, children who live on 43rd St. between Orchard and Starr Sts. put on a 4th of July block parade Tuesday. The Independence Day block parades were also promoted Tuesday in a joint resolution before the U.S. Congress issued by Rep. Robert Denney and Sen. Roman Hruska. The resolution, adopted previously by the State Legislature, requests the President each year to issue a proclamation for U.S. children, as a part of the Independence Day celebration, to participate in block parades in remembrance of their nation's birthday. (Star Photo.)

Pay Hikes Urged For School Officials

A pay raise of $3,000 has been proposed for school Supt. John Prasch next year, and raises ranging from $1,100 to $2,200 have been recommended for four other top district officials.

The salary increases, considered during several executive sessions of the Lincoln Board of Education, were included in the 1969-70 proposed budget disclosed Tuesday.

No formal action will be taken by the board on the proposed salaries until the entire budget is adopted, according to Prasch.

The $3,000 pay raise would boost Prasch's $28,000 salary to $31,000 for the 1969-70 school year.

School District Budget Unveiled

Other salary rates for the top school officials not included in the administrative salary schedule that were tentatively listed in the proposed budget were:

—Associate Supt. Dr. Robert DenHartog, in charge of business affairs, raised from $20,200 to $22,400.

—Associate Supt. Dr. R. L. Fredstrom, in charge of instruction, raised from $19,750 to $21,750.

—Director of personnel Dr. Carroll Sawin, raised from $17,200 to $19,000.

—Operation and maintenance supervisor Rudy Bauer, raised from $17,600 to $18,700.

Omaha Police, Negroes Tell Of More 'Incidents'

Omaha (AP) — More charges were made Tuesday by Omaha police and members of the Omaha Negro community.

Included was a charge by police that a 17-year-old Negro youth tried twice to shoot three white policemen after they caught him breaking a window early Tuesday in a building on Omaha's Near North Side.

A Negro man, George Parker, 33, said he was beaten without cause by five white policemen early Friday.

Involved Loder

The third was a belated charge that patrolman James Loder, 30, the white policeman charged with manslaughter in the fatal shooting of a 14-year-old Negro girl last Tuesday night, had been involved in a racial incident in February.

The three policemen who lodged the charge against the 17-year-old early Tuesday said they stopped the boy and held a shotgun on him. They said when he refused to move his hand from his pocket one officer fired a warning shot into the air.

The police said the boy then pulled a .32 caliber revolver and pulled the trigger twice. But it failed to fire because of faulty ammunition, they said.

Subdued Youth

They reported they subdued the youth after blows to his head with their shotguns. He was booked on suspicion of carrying a concealed weapon, suspicion of assaulting a policeman and suspicion of attempted burglary.

Parker claimed that early Friday he had helped an elderly woman across a street and was returning to his home when the five uniformed policemen approached him and made derogatory racial remarks. He said that after telling the officers he was on his way home the policemen began beating him with the butts of their shotguns. He said he suffered cuts and bruises on his chin, chest and back.

Police Chief Richard Andersen said Tuesday no police report had been filed on the alleged incident.

The third complaint was brought to light by Daniel M. Goodwin, a Negro barber. He said that on Feb. 2 Patrolman Loder had leaped from a cruiser car with his service revolver in hand as a group of children unloaded from a bus at a parking lot at predominately Negro Horace Mann Junior High School.

Goodwin alleged in a complaint filed Feb. 3 that as the cruiser pulled up an officer "rushed toward the children, almost slamming one child to the ground with his hand."

He had also charged that the cruiser came down an icy street at a high rate of speed "perhaps 90 miles an hour."

Man With Gun

In a reply dated, March 4, and released Tuesday by Goodwin, Chief Andersen said the officers had been sent to the school to investigate the report of a man with a gun.

The chief's letter said "officers on this type of call certainly take due precautions for the safety of themselves as well as other persons involved."

Andersen said the call for the officers originated with one of the persons who had charge of the children on the bus.

'Judgment'

As for the charge of a high rate of speed, the chief's letter said it was "probably a question of judgment. We certainly expect officers to answer calls promptly."

The officers, the chief said, did not find a man with a gun.

Goodwin had reported that he had talked to the officers the night of the incident and said he felt they were endangering the safety of the children. The name of the other policeman was not disclosed.

Goodwin was charged Monday in Municipal Court with carrying a concealed weapon in connection with an incident early Saturday.

Car-Cycle Accident Fatal To Lincolnite

A car-motorcycle accident at the 48th and Holdrege intersection claimed the life of a 31-year-old Lincoln man late Tuesday evening.

Police said the driver of the motorcycle, Paul Russell Thomas Jr., of 548 So. 53rd St., was dead on arrival at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Investigating officers said the Thomas vehicle was northbound when it was in collision with a southbound car which was making a left turn.

The driver of the car was Dennis Von Rentzell, 17, of 1320 No. 61st, authorities said.

Darrell Didriksen Dies Of Injuries Suffered June 12

North Platte (UPI) — Darrell J. Didriksen of Lincoln died in a North Platte hospital Tuesday of injuries received in a highway accident June 12 south of Gering.

Dideriksen's car was struck by a trailer which had become detached from a pickup truck on Highway 71.

The driver of the pickup was identified by authorities as Robert J. Stauffer of Harrisburg.

Inmates Stage Meal Boycott

Warden Maurice Sigler reported that only about 100 of the 500 inmates in the Nebraska Penitentiary showed up for meals Tuesday.

Sigler said he had received no complaints to indicate the apparent cause for the cafeteria boycott. The men performed their work details as usual, he said

Inmates recently refrained from eating prison food in protest to the quality of the servings. Sigler declined to speculate that food quality may have been the cause for Tuesday's small turnout at meal times.

Plea For Incentive Grants Renewed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's coordinator of antipoverty programs Tuesday renewed his plea for state incentive grants to cities to develop their programs free from federal guidelines.

But massive federal funds will be needed to meet all the problems of Omaha's Near North Side, he said.

"We need to do some experimental planning at the state level," Sam Cornelius, director of the state's technical assistance agency, said in an interview.

$500,000 Appropriated

The Legislature appropriated $500,000 in 1967 to fund emergency operations in the event of civil disturbances in Omaha, he noted.

"Now we need $500,000 not to call out the National Guard," he said.

Cornelius also urged lawmakers to give favorable consideration to the proposed establishment of a state vocational-technical school in Omaha.

"That is very much needed" in terms of both education and employment, he declared.

Answer 'Complete Overhaul'

The long-term answer for Omaha's Near North Side must be "complete overhaul," Cornelius said, undertaken through a federally funded renewal program.

"I can't estimate how many millions of dollars that would take," he said. "But I would guess $8 million to $10 million."

Morale in the North Side, scene of major civil disturbances last week, is "at an extremely low ebb," Cornelius said. "It is depressing.

Can Expect Violence

"When people feel they don't have any hope anyway, you can expect this kind of violent reaction. Some of them figure what do they have to lose.

"Kids walk from Hamilton to Sprague and they see burned-out buildings, taverns, a few restaurants, wine and whiskey bottles and tin cans setting in the streets.

"These kids go back and forth in this environment every day. The only thing you can possibly expect out of that is a feeling of hopelessness."

Cornelius lives in the North Side about a mile from the wreckage on 24th St.

Leahy Did 'Good Job'

Mayor Eugene Leahy did "a very good job" in handling the disturbances, particularly in view of his newness in office, Cornelius said.

And Omaha police, he said, were "restrained" during the first couple of nights, although there was "some escalation of police activity as the neighborhood cooled down."

Cornelius said he is most troubled by "a lack of sensitivity to the problem from Omaha's downtown business community . . . the decision people."

They are taking "a business-as-usual attitude and let the police take care of it," he said.

Omaha city government is "going to have to be more involved" in trying to help solve the problems of that area, Cornelius suggested.

And the Legislature must begin to realize that Omaha now has "all the problems of the big cities," and needs state assistance to meet them.

Not enough is being accomplished in employment or training, he said.

Day care centers are needed so mothers can work rather than be forced to stay at home with their children and rely on aid-to-dependent-children welfare payments, Cornelius said.

Reaching 'Good Kids'

Youth work is reaching "the good kids," but "we need some real good concentrated efforts in the direction of the hard-to-reach youngster," he declared. "I don't see that at all."

Too many young persons between 18 and 25 are "not being served other than with basketball," he noted.

And there is too little financing and urgency in almost all the programs, he said.

This summer's youth-police community relations camp, scheduled to begin June 15, isn't operative yet, Cornelius noted.

"Here's the opportunity to get young people out of the inner city to sit across the table and discuss issues face to face with the police. And it's not even functioning."

Future British King Charles Becomes Prince Of Wales

The New York Times

By GLORIA EMERSON

Caernarvon, Wales — Charles Philip Arthur George was invested Tuesday as prince of Wales and earl of Chester by his mother, Queen Elizabeth II.

Gulls wheeled in a gray sky over the massive walls of 13th-century Caernarvon Castle during the 60-minute ceremony.

Four thousand guests and millions on television watched the 20-year-old prince kneel before the queen, place his two hands between hers and repeat the ancient oath:

"I, Charles, prince of Wales, do become your liege man of life and limb and of earthly worship, and faith and truth I will bear unto you to live and die against all manner of folks."

Two Incidents

There were two violent incidents just before the ceremony. A youth hit the queen's carriage with an egg, and an explosive went off in an empty field near the post office.

World News

More than 2,500 policemen were on duty after a night during which two men carrying a bomb were killed when it went off, an incident believed to be connected with Welsh nationalist extremism.

The 21st prince of Wales, who until Tuesday had never worn a crown, received a standing ovation from the guests. Twice during the solemn ceremony he grinned at his father, Prince Philip, duke of Edinburgh, who wore a field marshal's uniform.

Charles Nervous

The young prince's nervousness did not show until after the ceremony, as he walked with his mother and father to a small balcony of the castle to greet the crowds below.

His face looked tense and pale, and he spoke to his mother in a low urgent voice. The queen seemed to remind her eldest son, heir to the the throne, to keep raised the right hand in which he held the golden rod symbolizing his new title.

When the ceremony began, Queen Elizabeth, who never opened the bright yellow parasol she carried, and Prince Philip were seated on a circular gray dais, surrounded by green lawns, inside the hourglass-shaped castle.

Three Feathers

On the royal dais were painted the three feathers of the prince of Wales's crest and the motto "Ich Dien" — Old German for "I Serve" — believed to have been first adopted by Edward, the second prince of Wales, in 1346. He was the son of Edward III and called the Black Prince because of his dark-hued armor. The same crest and motto were on the back of the brilliant, orange-stained timber chairs for the guests.

An unofficial estimate of the number of people crammed into the town and its environs was 100,000.

Nearly 3,000 persons paid as much as 10 pounds ($24) each for ringside seats inside the castle, and no one bolted when the rain fell.

'Mini-Coronation'

"It's like a mini-coronation" said an excited 18-year-old girl who had been waiting five hours for a glimpse of the young prince.

College Unrest Bill Ditched

Washington (AP) — A wrangling and divided House Education and Labor Committee ditched efforts Tuesday to write a compromise bill on student unrest.

After weeks of stalling and parliamentary maneuvering, committee liberals first stripped and then killed legislation aimed at campus disorders.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., a principal sponsor of the bill, told the committee it had opened the way for "repressive and punitive" measures from the House floor.

The action represented a victory for campus administrators, who oppose any new legislation.

Expansion Of Food Stamps' Area Favored

Washington (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee voted Tuesday to give the Agriculture Department authority to offer food stamps in areas where local officials have refused to set up a program, provided the state's governor approves.

It also voted for minimum and maximum eligibility standards for food stamp recipients to prevent some states from making it harder than others for their needy people to get the money-saving stamps.

The committee then approved and sent on for action by the full Senate, expected later this month, a comprehensive food stamp revision measure.

Further efforts to expand and revise the measure are planned on the Senate floor by Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., chairman of the special Senate Hunger Committee, who led unsuccessful reform moves in the Agriculture Committee, and by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., whose proposal for free stamps for the very poor was narrowly defeated 7 to 5.

The bill authorizes $750 million for the food stamp program in the fiscal year which started July 1. The level would double to $1.5 billion in each of the two following fiscal years.

Currently, only $340 million is authorized for the food stamp program this year.

Mission A 'Charade'

Washington (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's Latin America tour is an ill-advised "charade" that dramatized "the bitter feeling in Latin America toward the United States," Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said.

Road To Battered Ben Het Cleared

Saigon (AP) — U.S. troops mauled enemy forces on two familiar battlegrounds Tuesday and government armor cleared the highway linking the battered Ben Het camp with the military base at Dak To.

U.S. forces killed 73 North Vietnamese regulars in sharp fighting outside Tay Ninh, 55 miles northwest of Saigon and near the abandoned combat base of Khe Sanh hard by the Laotian border. The U.S. Command reported one killed and four wounded in both engagements.

A U.S. spokesman said 42 of the enemy were killed when 30 American armored vehicles smashed into a North Vietnamese force maneuvering around Tay Ninh and raked them for three hours with thousands of rounds of machine-gun fire.

The lopsided battle erupted at the base of Nui Ba Den Mountain where soldiers of the U.S. 25th Division killed 94 enemy soldiers last Friday.

The enemy unit in contacts both Friday and Tuesday was reported as a battalion of the 9th Viet Cong North Vietnamese Division.

U.S. intelligence reports said the battalion apparently was trying to get into position for another attack on Tay Ninh when it was intercepted Friday by American patrols and chased toward Nui Ba Den.

U.S. casualties in Tuesday's fight were one killed and one wounded.

In the other action south of Khe Sanh, North Vietnamese troops struck at the night position of a unit of the U.S. 5th Mechanized Infantry Division. They broke off the attack after losing 31 killed. The U.S. armored troops reported three men were wounded.

Arrival Is Sign

Arrival of government personnel carriers at the Special Forces camp at Ben Het was another indication that the siege of the frontier outpost 280 miles northeast of Saigon has ended.

The armored column spearheaded a task force of more than 1,000 South Vietnamese infantrymen who moved out of Dak To Saturday to clear the 10 miles of Route 579 leading to Ben Het.

A government spokesman said North Vietnamese army units that had cut the road and shot up allied convoys had pulled back. There was no significant contact during the road clearing operation.

Astromonk Bonny Appears To Be In Excellent Shape

Washington (AP) — Bonny, the 14-pound orbiting monkey, appears to be in excellent condition, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday.

He continues to be relaxed and rested, experts monitoring the space flight said.

He did some sleeping Monday night, the report said, and during the day has been alert and active.

His heart rate, respiration and blood pressure are normal. He ate 23 food pellets Monday, the report said, and appeared to have eaten about a dozen part way through Tuesday.

Bonny's space capsule was launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Saturday night.

This is no accident

But you're our witness, anyway—to a piece-ful demonstration of how quickly and easily Maverick can be taken apart and put together. We designed Maverick that way for a good reason. When you're paying by the hour for service or repairs, speed is important. And at times like this, nothing can beat a simple machine.

You know the way most new cars are coming out. More and more complicated. And more expensive to care for. Maverick's so simple to service, you can do it yourself—if you really mean it about being independent.

You won't feel like an orphan either. Our Owner's Manual shows you how to handle all the routine service. You can tune and time your engine, change plugs and points, adjust the idle, the headlamps, the handbrakes, do nearly 40 different service operations.

And if you crease a fender or crack a grille, you can almost smile. Maverick's front fenders bolt on and grilles are replaceable in minutes. And where time means money, fast means savings.

You can practically forget about lube jobs. Stop in once every 36,000 miles. Oil changes are 6,000 miles apart. (The leading import suggests oil changes twice as often . . . and lube jobs every 6,000 miles.)

While still being simple, Maverick is big enough to take the whole family—without streaming luggage from the roof. It's small enough to park easily, and go light on gas. A 105-hp Six gives you real turnpike passing power. (You get 52 more horsepower than the leading import offers.) And the wider stance gives you a smoother ride, better handling and roadability.

It's no accident that Maverick is the hottest selling new car to come along in five years. We designed it that way. See it at your Ford Dealer's.

Officers Hunt Bank Robber

. . . Homer Loss Not Disclosed

Homer (AP) — The American State Bank of Homer was robbed at gunpoint Tuesday morning of an undetermined amount of money.

The Dakota County sheriff's office said the robbery apparently was the work of a lone gunman, although it was thought two other men were involved.

According to the sheriff's office, there were no reported injuries to bank personnel.

The gunman was described as a white male, about six-feet tall, with brown hair and blue eyes. His age was estimated at between 45 and 50 years. The sheriff's office said there was no description available of the other men who were thought to be involved.

No estimate of the loss was available from the sheriff's office or the Omaha office of the FBI, which was also investigating.

Bank President Frank Mares said he had been told by the FBI to make no comment.

Authorities said the robber, or robbers, apparently fled in a 1965 green Chevrolet, driving west out of Homer.

Precipitation is forecast to average .10 to .25 of an inch occurring as scattered thunderstorms Thursday and again Saturday or Sunday.

Summary of Conditions

A semistationary front is on line from the Texas Panhandle through the southeastern tip of Kansas eastward into southern Missouri and by noon Wednesday a weak, ill-defined low will be into south central Kansas with a warm front eastward out of the low into southern Missouri. A cold front will be out of the low into west central Texas. A small high will build into eastern Montana and western North Dakota by noon Wednesday.

Skies over eastern Nebraska will be variably cloudy Wednesday with the chance of scattered to widely scattered showers or thunderstorms mostly in the southern portions of the area. Western Nebraska will have mostly partly cloudy skies with the slight chance of a few showers.

Wednesday night will be variably cloudy and a little warmer in southern portions with the chance of thundershowers mainly in southeastern Nebraska. Thursday will be partly cloudy and warm.

Near 3,000 Idle Migrants Creating Problem

By United Press International

Nearly 3,000 migrant workers and their families are unemployed and stranded in Nebraska, the State Labor Department said Tuesday.

Most of the migrants are in the western portion of the state, the department reported.

It said increasing mechanization had sharply cut the number of jobs available for farm hands. To compound the problem, the migrants also are having trouble finding jobs in other states where the harvest occurs later in the year.

"This has created a situation in which we have many migrant workers sitting around without work in Nebraska and in need of relief measures," a department spokesman said.

Efforts to find year-around jobs for the migrants have been largely unsuccessful.

The agency said farmers were increasing the use of machinery because of continued pressure for legislation to regulate the working conditions of migrants.

'Eyes On Nebraska' Award Going To Harold Warp, Village Founder

Hastings — Harold Warp, whose imagination and energy contributed to the establishment of Pioneer Village in Minden, Tuesday was given the "Eyes on Nebraska" award.

Dr. L. R. Wallace of Broken Bow, president of the sponsoring Nebraska Optometric Association, said the "eyes" citation would be presented to Warp both for his Pioneer Village and "financial help" he has given the state of Nebraska in restoration of Fort Kearney into a historical park.

Warp, now 65, makes his home in Chicago where he is president of the Flex-O-Glass Company. Thus, he is the first non-Nebraskan ever to receive the award.

However, Dr. Wallace pointed out that Warp is a native of Kearney County and "still spends considerable time gathering material for his very unique museum which is one of Nebraska's top tourist attractions."

Pioneer Village was started in 1953 for the purpose of telling the progress of man from 1830 to the present. Many of the items are directly related to Harold Warp and his early years in Nebraska.

Warp will be presented the award during his next visit here.

Forest Center Blast Sends 3 To Hospital

Bellevue (AP) — A park ranger and two workmen were injured Tuesday in an explosion in the nature study center at Fontenelle Forest.

The Bellevue Fire Department said the explosion, of undetermined cause, was in a bottled gas furnace in a subfloor of the 50 by 40 foot building.

The floor buckled and there was slight fire and smoke damage.

Ranger Badly Hurt

Daniel Eddinger, the ranger, was hospitalized with serious burns on the chest and abdomen. Also taken to Douglas County Hospital with face and shoulder burns was Jack Hanan of Council Bluffs, Iowa, who was reported in good condition. Charles Grandt of Bellevue was struck by a flying board and was released from the Offutt Air Force Base hospital after treatment for leg and hip injuries.

Nebraska News

Hanan and Grandt are employes of the Larsen Construction Corp. of Council Bluffs, which is building an addition to the nature study center.

James Malkowski, forest naturalist and director, was conducting a class of 35 adults in the center at the time of the blast. They escaped injury.

Swine Research Center Dedicated

Concord (UPI) — A new swine research center at the University of Nebraska's Station was dedicated Tuesday night in ceremonies headed by regents president Richard Adkins of Osmond.

Adkins called the new center a "tangible indication of the re-awakening which has occured in Nebraska's pork industry."

The complex includes six swine finishing units and an office-headquarters building.

Harvest Report Ranges Up To 50-Bushel Yields

. . . 75% Sheridan Loss Dims Outlook

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

The Nebraska Department of Labor wheat bulletin Tuesday gave the first report of wheat harvest which ranged from reports of 50-bushel yields in the Alma area to near a 75% loss of crop in Sheridan County where the wheat was damaged by an early June frost.

"You might say we are starting out our reporting of the 1969 wheat harvest with a harvest that ranges from excellent to disastrous," said Don E. Christenson of the State Labor Department.

A call for transit combines was reported from the Holdrege area where cutting has started on a local operator basis but additional harvest equipment is needed.

In the Alma area where early harvest reports ranged from 30 to 50 bushel per acre yields the moisture content was reported at 12.5 percent with a 59 to 62 pound test weight.

At Orleans the wheat was yielding 20 to 44 bushels per acre as the harvest started with 14% moisture and a 59 pound test weight.

Moisture Count High

The highest moisture content reported came from the Stanford area where some early harvest wheat that was yielding up to 40 bushels per acre had an 18% moisture content.

Full scale harvest is expected in the McCook area by July 4, and the harvest is expected to reach North Platte by July 8.

Reports of freeze damage to the wheat crop came mainly from Dawes, Box Butte and Sheridan counties where damage is expected to range from 40 to 75% damage.

Bill Introduced Phasing Out Ag Subsidies Over 5 Years

Washington (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and 18 other senators introduced Tuesday a bill to phase out national farm subsidies over the next five years.

Sen. Charles Mc C. Mathias Jr., R-Md., said in a statement that the measure would pare down payments on acreage controls, base acreages, marketing quotas, processing taxes and direct payments for wheat, feed grains and cotton, ending all payments effective with 1975 crops.

As an alternative, the bill would authorize expansion of the land-adjustment program with a goal of retiring 10 million acres a year in the next five years. It would offer low income farmers additional incentives for land retirement, and loans to help them find more profitable employment.

Mathias said that while farmers now are receiving the lowest prices for their commodities since the 1930s food prices are at a record high.

He said the Commodity Credit Corp., which pays farm subsidies, lost $3.3 billion in the first 10 months of the fiscal year which ended Monday.

Meanwhile, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted a close Senate vote next week on the issue of limiting farm subsidy payments to $20,000 to any one producer.

Dirksen said in this reference he believes the administration will win its fight to knock out the House-approved restriction.

Mansfield said he favors some limitation on payments to large farm operators, but he noted that the Senate rejected a similar provision last year in three separate votes.

The Senate began debate Tuesday on the $7.6 billion agricultural appropriations bill, but Mansfield said no votes will be taken until after the July 4 recess.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

We are not surprised that new Councilmen Merle Hale and Dick Hartsock voted for the change of zoning at 70th and O. The vote of veteran Councilman Bill Davidson is no surprise either. The vote of new Councilman Harry (Pete) Peterson was the key one and it went for the change.

Citizens can rest assured that the city is not going to disintegrate as a result of this zoning change from residential to business. But a pattern and perhaps a council coalition have been established which could produce a lot of difficulties.

We are speaking of both short and long-range difficulties. It seems impossible to see how the city will now be able to hold the rest of the land in the 70th and O area in a residential classification.

Across the street from this latest switch, the northwest corner of 70th and O, a car dealer seeks business zoning on a large tract of land. To the south and west of the area changed Monday is more open land.

We fail to see anything stopping the development of all of this property as commercial. Involved is another 45 acres of land or so, not a single piece of which currently adjoins existing residential property.

It is because of this that the land is likely to change in zoning. As was done Monday, it is argued that no one will build housing in land surrounded by arterials, railroad tracks and/or commercial property.

Of course, the facts knock the argument in the head but we don't always look at the facts. Builder Ervin Peterson, also a member of the City Council, is building multiple-dwelling units on a piece of land in south Lincoln that most people would have laughed at before he started.

★

The Peterson development is on narrow strip of land between a major highway and an elevated railroad track. If he had wanted it for commercial development, he could have pleaded that no one would ever build a home on that property and a majority of the present City Council would probably have gone along with him.

But Peterson knew differently. He approached the matter with good planning and the latest in architectural methods and construction techniques. He is now nearing completion of a housing project which, we understand, is already assured of success.

Peterson did the same thing in the Wedgewood Lake area southeast of 70th and O. In the less desirable land in his new lake area development, he put duplexes that look like single-family dwellings.

There are single-family homes now in existence that are closer to O St. in the vicinity of 70th than are the southern boundaries of land now subject to business zoning there.

★

The entire tract south of O from 70th to 66th, some 30 acres, could easily be developed as residential, both multiple and single-family. Its western edge abuts a city park which would make an attractive view for homes.

But the change now approved about writes finis to such a thought. It is the straw which destroys residential possibilities and makes business in the entire area a virtual certainty.

This means more traffic on O and 70th, already overcrowded, and a possible shifting of property values in the city. Vacant land already zoned for business becomes a little less valuable and the public improvements based on good planning and zoning, a little less meaningful.

We wonder if Hale, Hartsock, Peterson and Davidson have thoughtfully considered the full impact of their action. Their votes may have been popular but they are there to give intelligent leadership, not to win popularity.

The High Price Tag On Doctor Knowles

NEW YORK—Unlike most public officials who've just been blackballed from a top government job, Dr. John E. Knowles need never get that worthless feeling. Just the opposite. He may have been sold out for a higher price than anyone lately.

For one thing, as a sort of fund-raising hostage he's worth millions to Republicans in charge of the moneybags. The American Medical Association didn't want him as head of the country's health program and made sure President Nixon got the message.

You could spell that "me$$age," because last year the AMA's Political Action Committee asked the nation's doctors to say "ah" and they coughed up some $2.5 million for campaign contributions.

This breaks down to around $682,000 for the 1968 Republican races, plus the loot from countless $1,000-a-plate dinners to keep the campaign coffers filled.

That's a lot of rubber chicken, but some doctors are so terrified of "socialized" medicine (and while Dr. Knowles is all for private practice, he has also looked with favor on Medicare, Medicaid and such) they'll do anything to ward it off. Maybe it's a new kind of "preventive medicine."

Anyway, after announcing his intentions to appoint Dr. Knowles as assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, Mr. Nixon did a 180-degree turn and served him up on his shield (Blue?).

☆ ☆ ☆

Now that Mr. Nixon has again bowed to a Dirksen dictum, it might not be a miracle if the Great Orator saw his way clear to leaning a little harder on senators who are lukewarm about the President's Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

As a political pawn in this transaction, Dr. Knowles is worth around $11 billion. Maybe even more. Those are the Pentagon's figures for the ABM costs and you know how bad they are in arithmetic over there.

Then there's the surtax extension. That's another little problem area where President Nixon needed Senator Dirksen's help.

In case you missed the fancy footwork, there was last-minute assurance that Knowles was the one. Then assurance that the surtax would come up right away.

Then there was a delay in the surtax. And Washington-watchers knew what would be coming next. Sure enough, Knowles was out and, what do you know, the surtax was back on.

Dr. Knowles finds this all fairly amusing.

"God knows what I might have been traded off for if this had gone on another week," he said.

Dr. Knowles can now give his full time again to running Massachussetts General Hospital. And the Republicans can present the AMA with a bill stamped "paid in full."

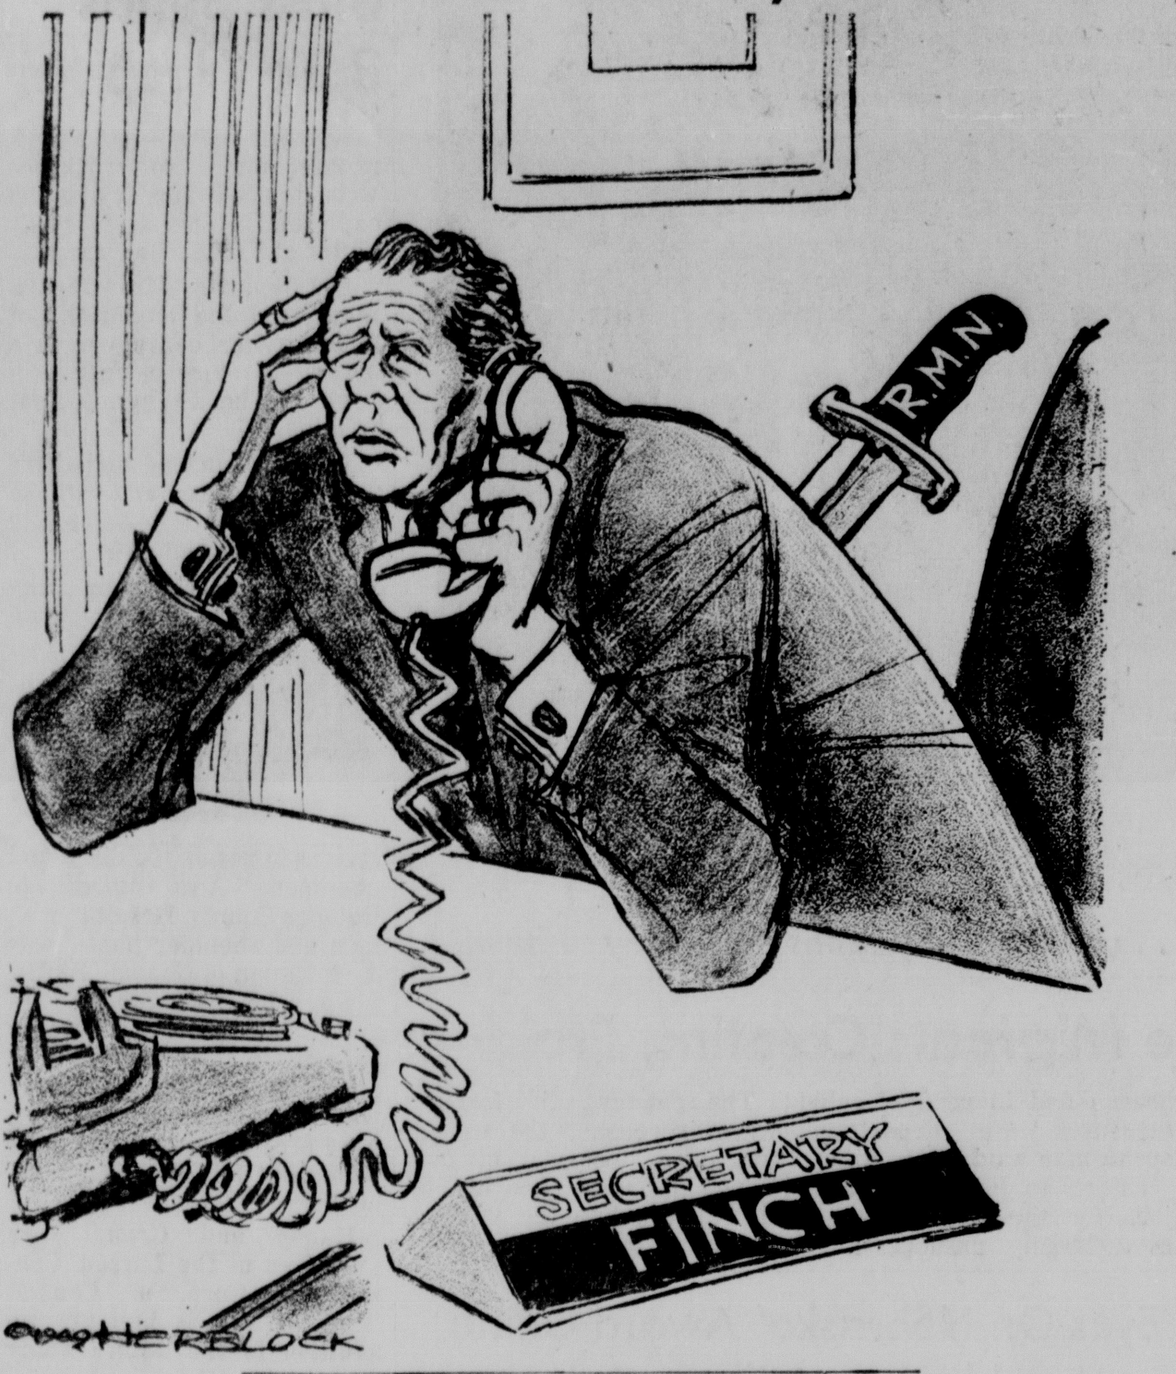
'Dr. Knowles, I'm Calling About Some Trouble With My Back'



Governors Call For Change

Midwest governors meeting in Wichita agreed Monday that the nation's education system needs to be changed or the number of youthful doubters and rebels will increase. One governor said that support for job training, rather than reliance on crime control measures, is the answer for the country's young poverty victims.

This is generally along the lines we were talking about yesterday, when we wondered why the Nebraska Legislature was so quick to pass riot control laws and so slow to pass open housing laws and laws providing for job training.

Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio, speaking from the experience of his state, said the (federal) Crime Control and Safe Streets Act is the product of a bankrupt welfare system and an educational system that fails to meet the needs of young people. "The Crime Control Act is not the answer; job training is," Rhodes said. "The younger people of Ohio don't want a program to keep them off the streets. They want a job."

A point well taken by Gov. Rhodes. We hope the Nebraska Legislature will have similar thoughts when they consider a proposal to fund a vocational-technical school in Omaha.

A number of other Midwest governors participating on the education panel accused the educational system of standing still since the turn of the century while the world has changed greatly. One called on university officials to examine educational traditions of the past and develop schools capable of initiating change and of continuous response to change.

Another governor, William G. Milliken of Michigan, termed education "the greatest single challenge the states face today. Unless the states do a better job, they invite the very thing they don't want — greater movement of the federal government into this field." Nebraskans should also take Gov. Milliken's words to heart.

Contrasting Values

When it comes to meaningful things for so-called little people, the road can get pretty bumpy, as exemplified in recent congressional action. The action is an example, too, of what the younger generation is talking about when it questions the nation's current sense of values.

While the House passed an extension of the surtax, it left undone major tax reform. The reform is scheduled to come later but will it? We grant the importance of the surcharge extension as a tool to fight inflation but the tax reform is even longer overdue.

Thus, we have no trouble providing funds for the operation of government but we can wait when it comes to tax equity, a form of justice equal to any other that might be a citizen's right.

In Congress, senators on the committee turned down an administration plan for free food stamps to the needy. The story didn't explain why but that isn't too important. The important thing is that no relief was given where it was needed, another indictment of society's system of justice. It is a social injustice, after all, when people do not have enough food, when they are starving to death.

Somewhere along the way, we need to begin placing things in perspective. We need to start putting the human element first and letting other things play second fiddle. The needs of people should be our first priority but it often seems that we put this in last place.

Roumanian Leader Looks Forward To Visit From Nixon, Considered 'A Practical Man'

WASHINGTON — Behind President Nixon's sudden decision to visit communist Roumania this summer is a two-hour talk he had with President Nicolae Ceausescu in the winter of 1967. Some time afterward, Ceausescu told me that he was impressed.

My interview with President Ceausescu took place last fall when it seemed certain Nixon would be elected president and when Roumania was on tenderhooks over reports that Russian troops were on its border ready to duplicate its earlier invasion of Czechoslovakia. Ceausescu has studied Nixon's background carefully. He knows all about his record as a communist-hunter back in the old days of McCarthyism when Nixon was an energetic member of the House Un-American Activities Committee. Nevertheless he likes Nixon's general approach to peace and also Nixon's view that the smaller countries of Europe must play a part in its destiny.

The latter was especially important to Roumania. For it has been constantly worried about its big communist neighbor and about the idea that this neighbor, Soviet Russia, might form an official alliance with the United States. Nixon, then a private citizen, assured him that if he had anything to do with it, this would not be so.

Today Nixon is in a position to have a great deal to do about agreement with the Soviet Union, and though President Ceausescu may not know it, his thinking is somewhat along the lines of close alliance or understanding between the two great nuclear powers regarding spheres of influence.

☆ ☆ ☆

Thus Nixon has decided that the United States will not interfere with what Russia has done or will do in Czechoslovakia, or for that matter other Eastern European countries. This, he has decided, is Russia's sphere of influence. On the other hand, he wants Russia to keep out of the American sphere of influence in Latin America.

This thinking will not be pleasing to President Ceausescu. To him it will not go nearly as far as the steps taken by the Johnson administration when Secretary of State Dean Rusk, meeting with NATO ministers last fall, asked for a commitment to aid both Yugoslavia and Roumania if invaded by Russia.

In going to Roumania at this time, President Nixon takes some risks regarding his upcoming missile negotiations with Russia. This is not the best time to antagonize a nation with whom he wants a missile and an ABM agreement. And next to China and Yugoslavia, Roumania has been the chief rebel against Moscow among the communist nations.

On the whole, however, Roumania has played its Soviet policy smart. It has been the independent friend of all countries. It has been the would-be, though unsuccessful, mediator between China and Russia. It has refused to go along with other communist countries in breaking with Israel.

It has voted with the United States on many occasions in the United Nations. And it has been consistently friendly with the United States even though the U.S.A. has given it nothing in return.

When Mr. Nixon was a congressman from California, he frowned on and voted against President Truman's policy of offering surplus American wheat to Yugoslavia and other European satellite countries. And when President, he decided to continue the anti-trade policy with communist nations.

☆ ☆ ☆

Under Kennedy and Johnson, there was a trend toward lifting this policy. The State Department has given the green light to the Firestone Rubber Company to sell a petrochemical plant to Roumania and the deal was consummated. Then a rubber competitor of Firestone's conspired with the Young Americans for Freedom to set up a picket line and boycott of Firestone for dealing with a communist country.

Firestone chickened and canceled the contract. West Germany picked up the deal instead.

Actually Roumania is not desperate for American trade. It is a booming country, with a higher national growth than any country except Japan and Switzerland. But it has asked for most favored nation treatment with the United States. Unquestionably this will come up between Nixon and Ceausescu. But the main thing the two presidents will discuss when they meet in August will be how to improve general relations between the United States and the communist world. Ceausescu is one of the shrewdest leaders in Eastern Europe and as he himself says: "Nixon is a practical man. He wants peace and so do we. I believe we can do business with him."

New Import Quotas Ahead?

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans is one of the most inconspicuous members of the Nixon administration. He plays it in a low key, with a smooth exterior and every evidence of the stern interior of the banker and the fund raiser who for a year and a half gathered prodigious sums of money to elect Richard Nixon president.

Nevertheless, Stans' influence can be as decisive as that of any of the Nixon policy-makers, not excepting Secretary of State William P. Rogers. This is true if only because he is setting the course on trade and tariffs. And while his pronouncements rarely make the headlines in this country, they were front-page news in Europe and Asia when he toured the world with a warning that restrictive quotas should be imposed voluntarily or Congress would respond to a rising tide of protectionism and legislate quotas.

For free traders Stans' tour and the resentments it generated are an ominous echo of the protectionist clamor of the Herbert Hoover era. Congress responded to that clamor by enacting the Hawley-Smoot Tariff Act which helped to bring on the world-wide depression of the '30s.

Stans' immediate concern in his tour first of Europe and then of Asia was to get voluntary quotas on artificial fibers and manufactured textiles. These would be like the quota on cotton textiles and the quota on steel designed to limit competition from Japan.

Everywhere he went, the secretary met stout resistance. He could point to protectionism in the countries he visited, Japan's tariff barriers against American textiles and American motorcars. But these same countries buy American products in large volume and particularly cotton and tobacco from the South, where the clamor for textile quotas is loudest. President Nixon's campaign promise to protect southern textile mills was widely exploited by his southern strategist, Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

Stans says today that the aim is not to keep out competing textiles and fibers but rather to limit the rate of increase. He cites Taiwan as an example. In recent years Taiwan's textile exports to the United States have grown by 20 to 30 per cent a year, with the prospect that the volume will total $100 million by 1970.

Korea is another case in point. With large infusions of American aid, Korea is close to economc sufficiency. Out of exports to this country of $251 million, textile products amount to $81 million. The latter is one-fifth of one per cent of total American consumption, which is a whopping $41.5 billion.

On his return, in a press conference statement Stans seemed to issue an ultimatum — apply voluntary quotas in 60 to 90 days or suffer the consequences. He noted an unfavorable textile trade balance of $800 million. It was not, he says now, an ultimatum but an appeal to be reasonable with a suggested timetable.

To Koreans, as to 20 other friendly countries dependent in one degree or another on textile exports, American insistence on quotas is baffling. They must build up their economy against the persistent communist threat from the north. With 55,000 troops in Vietnam, they find it hard to understand why their powerful friend and partner should propose cutting down on one of their few dollar earners while they continue to import a half-billion dollars in American goods, more than two-thirds of it paid for in hard cash.

To rebut Stans' contention, the free traders cite the great prosperity of the American textile industry. Profits in 1961 were $589 million, in 1968 $1.276 billion. Despite widespread automation in new plants employment grew during this same period by 300,000, with a jump of 50,000 in 1968 alone. These facts are widely known in the developing countries, even though they get little attention here at home.

☆ ☆ ☆

Nothing like the Nixon grab bag has been seen in this capital for many a year. It is stuffed with something for everybody. As counter to Stans, the White House nominated Carl J. Gilbert, former chairman of the Committee for a National Trade Policy and long known as a free trader, to be principal foreign trade adviser and negotiator.

If any differences should develop between Stans and Gilbert, it is a safe bet Stans will win the debate. The President is deeply in his debt. Moreover, he is the missionary for the conservatives who feel he is their legate at the Nixon court.

BOB CONSIDINE

Bob Morgenthau, Racket-Buster

NEW YORK — Had a talk the other day with the greatest gang-buster in America, Robert M. Morgenthau; U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York. He has put three times as many criminals behind bars as did Tom Dewey — who won the New York governor's chair and two cracks at the White House as a result of his achievements.

Morgenthau looks and talks a bit like a high school math teacher. He could walk right through a meeting of the Mafia, his favorite target, and nobody would recognize him.

Morgenthau would never be cast as a racket-busting D.A. by any Hollywood producer. He's mild-talking, self-effacing — but he nearly always gets his man. For example, he got convictions against the Uruguyan ambassador-designate to the Soviet Union and the Mexican Ambassador to Bolivia for smuggling 140 pounds of heroin into the U.S. from Montreal. That would have amounted to about $20 million at retail prices. The Mexican is serving an 18-year term and the Uruguyan a 15-year sentence in Federal prisons. One can imagine the diplomatic pressures brought to bear on Morgenthau. In New York and Washington, the cops can't give a ticket to a foreign diplomat even if he's triple parked.

Morgenthau is the man most feared by the Mafia, and he is certainly the nation's leading authority on that sinister syndicate. He is chiefly responsible for the unprecedented defection of Joe Valachi — who blew the whistle on scores of his superiors and who is now safely removed from the clutches of former associates who wish to kill him for squealing. Joe is in prison under extraordinary security guard, serving a 15-year murder rap.

Morgenthau also is a great authority on and enemy of what he quietly calls "White Collar Crime." By that he means the finagling of some brokerage firms, industrial firms and the like. Tax evasion by the rich is another of his specialties.

Right now he's about to pounce on the agents of two well-known manufacturers. The agents failed to report a million dollars a year income for three straight years — from sales to Army PX's — and banked the dough under a code number in a Swiss bank.

Morgenthau has an interesting philosophy about crime in general. He told me, "Laws are enforced just as much as the public wants them to be. Organized crime offers certain services the public can find no place else. Narcotics, let's say, bookmaking, prostitution, moneylending at sinful rates, pornography. Pornography has become a very big business in the Mafia. The Scandinavian countries turn out most of the stuff."

☆ ☆ ☆

The bigger they are the harder they fall before this soft-spoken, frail-looking man. He got the chairman of the Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange on a tax charge; financier Louis Wolfson, who had powerful friends in Washington, including Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, and Mayor Lindsay's good friend and appointee, Water Commissioner James Marcus. His trial of famed attorney Roy Cohn begins this fall.

Valachi's chief contribution to the war on crime, Morgenthau feels, was not the information he gave about the Mafioso but the fact that he brought home to the American public the fact of the conspiracy. He put it in focus. He was not a big shot in the notorious "family" of the Cosa Nostra.

"They say of him that he was nothing but a messenger boy," Morgenthau said quietly as he sipped a ginger ale at Shor's. "Perhaps that was the extent of it. But he had been in the organization for nearly 20 years, knew everybody, was completely trusted. For our purposes, that was as good as being a chief." About 100 Mafia figures have gone to prison since then.

General Fund School Budget Proposals Would Increase Tax Levy 6 Mills

An estimated six-mill increase in the Lincoln school district tax levy would be required to finance the 1969-70 general fund budget proposals unveiled for the Board of Education here Tuesday.

Another two mills would be required to finance the vocational and adult courses of the now separate Area Vocational-Technical School formerly included in the general fund budget and mill levy.

The total general fund budget for operating the schools is expected to exceed $20 million, compard to $18,499,222 for 1968-69, reported Associate Supt. Dr. Robert Den Hartog.

About 62 Mills

"Assuming an assessed valuation of $300 million and a two million increase in the general fund budget," the district will require a tax of approximately 62 mills for general fund operations. Den Hartog told the board.

The two-mill tax for Area Vocational-Technical School No. 5, recently changed to the name of Lincoln Technical College by the Legislature, would boost the total levy to 64 mills, compared to a 56-mill levy for the 1968-69 school year.

Budget proposals reported Tuesday are "only tentative," Supt. John Prasch emphasized.

May Change

Recommendations for budget items may change as final figures for the current fiscal year's operation are known, Prasch said. A public hearing must be held on the budget before the school board can officially adopt the package, he also pointed out.

Budget estimates for 1969-70 are based on an enrollment of 30,730 students. Last year, 29,946 pupils were enrolled.

The builk of the proposed increases will be used for pay raises for all staff members, expenses connected with opening the new Goodrich Junior High and absorbing some 800 additional students in the district, it was noted.

Under Limitation

Den Hartog indicated that the district expects to remain under the 108% limitation on increases in certain per pupil expenditures to qualify for state aid. The district may only increase expenditures calculated in the state aid formula by $1.8 million, he said.

The district will be under the 108% limit when all charges for the vocational and adult courses are separated from the general fund accounting, according to Den Hartog.

Tentative budget totals for 1969-70 discussed by the board were administration, $389,110, compared with $356,918 for 1968-69; instruction, $14,594,488, compared with $13,605,466; health and attendance, $227,446, compared with $213,690; school bus transportation, $159,301, compared with $133,350; operation, $2,129,574, compared with $1,848,904; maintenance, $971,146, compared with $921,226; and fixed chrges, $1,075,100, cmapared with $980,600.

Other Portions

Other portions of the general fund budget not yet presented are summer school, community services and capital outlay. However, Den Hartog indicated that capital outlay would be about the same as the $279,755 budget for 1968-69.

Prasch pointed out the following highlights of the budget proposals:

—Elementary pupil-teacher ratio may improve slightly, from 30.4 to 30.2.

—The apparent improved pupil-teacher ratio at the junior high-level from 26.5 to 25.9 "reflects a less efficient use of staff in opening a small building."

—Senior high pupil-teacher ratios may decrease from 24.9 to 24.5.

—Generally no support staff such as teacher aides will be added to elementary school buildings "until we determine a better basis for assigning people." Present "serious discrepancies" in support staff of various schools needs to be examined, Prasch said.

—Another vote on a community college in the school district apparently will not be considered next year as no funds were recommended for school elections in 1969-70.

—The method of taking a school census will be changed with a corresponding reduction in the budget from $8,000 to $2,000 for that purpose.

—The West Lincoln school will have only a half-time principal.

2 Named To Top Positions In East High Administration

Two Lincoln Public Schools staff members have been named to top administrative positions at East High School for next year.

Darwin Salestrom, athletic director at Southeast High School for the past four years, has been appointed vice principal, and East High math teacher Frank Masek has been named assistant principal for instruction, Supt. John Prasch announced Tuesday.

William G. Miller, chairman of the social studies department at Southeast will become athletic director at Southeast, Prasch reported.

The three new administrative appointments are expected to be confirmed by the Lincoln Board of Education at its meeting next Tuesday.

Salestrom, who succeeds Dr. Norbert Schuerman at East, is a former coach and counselor.

Masek has been on the Lincoln staff for one year. He succeeds Gary Lake.

The new Southeast athletic director has been assistant coach in football and basketball and has coached tennis.

School District Is Seeking Half-Time Medical Director

The Lincoln school district has been searching for a half-time medical director, it was revealed Tuesday during Board of Education discussion of the 1969-70 budget.

A sum of $15,000 had been included in the proposed health and safety budget for a half-time medical director, but the person with whom that salary had been negotiated decided not to accept the position, Supt. John Prasch announced.

School officials will meet again — before the search is continued — with the Lancaster County Medical Society committee that has recommended that the district hire a medical director, Prasch said.

Another person probably would not be hired at a half-time salary of $15,000, he added, noting that the individual being considered had special qualifications for the job.

A medical director would be in charge of directing the work of school nurses, providing in-service training for nurses, representing the school district to the medical profession and supervising the medical records of children, and would advise the district on policies for health education programs-health education programs relationships between the medical profession and special education programs.

Downtown Banks Report Clearings

Lincoln's three downtown banks Tuesday reported that bank clearings for June 1969 totaled $77,899,679.

This compares with $72,447,494 for the same month in 1968.

The total for this year, January through June is $480,843,541.

University Honors Veteran Educators

DR. WALTER K. BEGGS

DR. NORMAN F. THORPE

More than 80 years of service to education were rewarded Tuesday night when two University of Nebraska faculty members received honors from the university and the staff of the Teachers College.

Recognized for their work, totaling more than 60 years at the university between them, were Dr. Walter K. Beggs, dean of the Teachers College, and Dr. Norman F. Thorpe, associate dean of the college.

Dr. Beggs, born in Coin, Iowa, joined the university as a graduate assistant in 1936, taking over his present position in 1958. Dr. Thorpe, a Waco native, joined the staff in 1941 when he became assistant director of the Extension Division, and took his present position in 1968.

More than 300 guests heard Dr. Frank Sorenson, professor of secondary education, introduce the honorees, their wives and families, and special guests.

Acting Chancellor Merk Hobson presented the deans with Centennial Medals for their university service.

From the Teachers College staff, both men and their wives received engraved plaques which expressed the staff's appreciation for their leadership. Part of the inscription read, "Because you show concern for the youth of our state, our college has extended this concern to the far reaches of Nebraska as well as out into the nation."

Presenting Dr. Beggs' placque was Regent B. N. Greenberg, M.D., of York and presenting the placque to Dr. Thorpe was Regent Edward Schwartzkopt of Lincoln.

Both Mrs. Beggs and Mrs. Thorpe were honored with bouquets presented respectively by Mrs. Joseph Soshnik and Mrs. Merk Hobson.

Both Dr. Beggs and Dr. Thorpe received their master's and Ph.D. degrees from Nebraska. Prior to joining the university staff, Dr. Beggs taught in rural Morgan County, Colo., and Summerfield, Kan., schools.

Dr. Thorpe served as teacher and superintendent at Panama and later as superintendent at Weston, Silver Creek and Wayne before taking his first university position.

Both men hold active memberships in several state and national education associations, including Phi Delta Kappa, the National and Nebraska Education Associations, and the Nebraska Association of School Administrators.

City Officials Get First-Hand Look At Housing Problems

City officials got a first-hand look Tuesday at the housing and environmental health problems that daily face the residents of the Malone and Clinton areas.

The officials walked down the "back alleys" to see the hidden problems — such as garbage piles — during a tour sponsored by the Lincoln Human Rights Commission.

City Human Rights Officer Gerald Henderson, who served as tour guide, explained that "many drive by these areas but only see what the front of a house looks like."

Problems Invisible

He told the tour group — which included Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf, city department heads, City Council members, Human Rights Commissioners and staff members of the Home and Neighborhood Development (HAND) project — that many of the problems common to low-income areas are invisible unless one walks down the "back alleys."

Common sights on the tour were ramshackle homes, backyards full of junk, uncut lawns, dilapidated garages, abandoned autos, homes with broken windows and garbage piles.

Henderson said "rats are also common to backyards in some neighborhoods."

"The last item in a budget of a low-income family is garbage disposal," he said. "Consequently, the garbage piles up along the alley."

Possible ordinance violations were also observed by those making the tour.

Mrs. Sue Scott, project manager of HAND, told city officials about the self help neighborhood improvement program now operating in the Clinton area.

Mrs. Scott explained the work being done to organize neighborhoods to help each other improve their property.

Henderson distributed a paper which defined — in the words of the area residents — what the major problem is in the Malone and Clinton areas.

The paper said, "The problem is a common, overall, contagious feeling of defeatism, hopelessness, and uselessness caused by or a result of" the following housing conditions:

—Absentee landlords who do not care about the condition of their property.

—Tenants are afraid to ask landlords to fix up property because of possible eviction or rent increase.

—Home owners are afraid of the university expansion and the northeast radial because they do not know whose property will be next or where the boundaries are for purchase.

—Health hazards, such as rats, mosquitoes, abandoned houses.

—Residents do not have funds to fix up their homes because other living expenses take priority.

Drive Under Way To Deter Use Of Illegal Fireworks

Lincoln (UPI) — The State Fire Marshal's Office said Tuesday it has joined with federal authorities in a drive to wipe out the use of illegal fireworks in Nebraska.

Assistant State Fire Marshal Wallace M. Barnett said his office will report any cases of possession of illegal fireworks to the federal authorities.

By reporting these cases, Barnett said, it is hoped that the suppliers of these potential injury producing explosives can be tracked down and prosecuted. He said the main objective of the drive is to stop the supplier and protect the unwary individual user.

"But," he said, "if we can stop the little man we will get to the supplier eventually."

Most Imported

Barnett said most of the illegal fireworks found in Nebraska are imported from Missouri and South Dakota. However, he said, there are probably a few Nebraska-based suppliers who purchase the fireworks under the guise of using them as predator control agents.

Fireworks classified as illegal under a 1967 federal law include cherry bombs, M-80s, silver salutes "and all other more highly explosive types," the Assistant Fire Marshal said.

Under state and federal law there are several types of fireworks that are legal to possess. These include sparklers, vesuvian fountains, spray fountains, color wheels and star and comet-type colored aerial shells without explosive charges.

Fined To $100

Under Nebraska law persons convicted of possession of illegal fireworks can be fined up to $100. The federal penalty is "quite a bit stiffer," according to Barnett.

Barnett said the stamping out of illegal fireworks in the state could be further helped if local doctors and hospitals would report all treatments of injuries caused by fireworks.

According to "very insufficient" statistics in the fire marshal's office, he said, 15 persons were injured last year by fireworks. Most of the injuries involved burns but a few cases involved loss of fingers and arms and one person was permanently blinded.

Bernard McGinn Hired As Deputy County Attorney

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday approved the hiring of Bernard McGinn as a deputy county attorney at a starting salary of $700 per month.

BERNARD McGINN

Graduate Of NU

McGinn, who was graduated from the University of Nebraska College of Law this spring, had worked in the county attorney's office as a law clerk while completing his studies.

While an undergraduate, McGinn was a member of the University of Nebraska football squad. He worked as a summer police officer for the Lincoln Police Dept. in 1964.

He is married and the father of two children.

The county commissioners' formal action came through a telephone call between Commissioner Ralph Harlan, who was the only board member present, and William Grossman, who is recuperating at home from surgery. The third board member, Kenneth Bourne, is out of town.

State's Road Construction Plan To Be Announced In Few Days

State Engineer Marvin Nuernberger said Tuesday a six-month program of highway construction lettings can be announced in the next few days because of the $8.3 million federal aid allocation to Nebraska.

Nebraska's share of $8,386,000 was part of the $1.26 billion released for obligation by the states for the first quarter of the 1970 fiscal year begun July 1.

Nuernberger said $5 million of the anticipated allotment has been used as a "token obligation" for Interstate Highway construction in western Nebraska.

He said the remaining $3.6 million will be immediately used for primary and secondary highway construction and the other "obligated" $5 million replaced with funds from the $20 million bond issue hopefully to be issued by October.

The bond money is earmarked to speed Interstate construction, and then federal reimbursements for Interstate work channeled into state highway programs.

"We've had a road program before the Federal Bureau of Roads and we're ready to go in anticipation of the release of first-quarter 1970 funds," he said.

However, Nuerberger noted it is also important that the $20 million revenue bonds, authorized this year by the Legislature, be issued by September or October to keep programmed highway improvements on a projected timetable.

National Guard Alert Halted; Police Shifts Back To Normal

Omaha (AP) — Omaha Mayor Eugene Leahy reporetd Tuesday that Gov. Norbert Tiemann has called off an alert for some 600 National Guard troops who have been standing by in case help was needed to help Omaha police control violence in Omaha's predominately Negro North Side.

The mayor and Police Chief Richard Andersen also announced Tuesday that police have called off extended shifts and work details were returning to normal.

Some 400 National Guard troops have been stationed at the Omaha Armory during the last five days and six nights. Another 200 were on back-up status at Fremont and Nebraska City.

Leahy toured the Omaha Armory early Tuesday and told the troops that "I hope and pray that we'll never meet again under these circumstances."

The mayor said the decision to release the troops came after a calm night. He said there was a lack of unusual activity and police answered only routine calls.

Leahy, Andersen and Lt. Col. George Talmadge, commander of the Omaha unit, each expressed thanks to the guardsmen for "a job well done."

'Nebraska's Medical Schools Discourage Outstate Practice'

By The Associated Press

An outstate Nebraska doctor said Tuesday that Nebraska medical schools discourage students from practicing in rural areas where they are most urgently needed.

Asked flatly if the medical schools are discouraging outstate practice, Dr. Robert Westerbrook of Sargent said "yes" and added he received a letter from a Creighton University student which affirmed the contention.

Dr. Westerbrook made the statement during an appearance with Dr. Max Raines of North Platte on the KOLN-TV-KGIN-TV news feature "Face-Nebraska."

Dr. Westerbrook said he and 19 other doctors volunteered to teach and "inspire" general practice medicine at the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

"It wouldn't cost any tax money," but the university said it would "not work," he said.

The two physicians agreed the medical school budget for research should be trimmed, and the funds transferred to encourage young practitioners.

Denied Discouragement

A spokesman for the University Medical Center denied that students are being discouraged from general practice and pointed out a division of community medicine has been established at the school.

The students have started a general practitioner club, he said.

The spokesman admitted that the doctor shortage in Nebraska is a problem, but noted the exodus of young people from small towns is common in all professions.

Dr. Raines also criticized the federal government for supporting research while "doing nothing for the patient."

The doctor shortage in outstate Nebraska "is becoming critical," they said.

Dr. Westerbrook said his patient load has grown to a point that "I'm getting tired. I'm looking for a partner . . . I've been looking for three years."

Medical students feel they'll be overworked in the smaller community, he said, and often their wives object to the prospect of rural life.

Dr. Raines said economic opportunity is handsome for young doctors in outstate Nebraska.

Strife, Taxes

The strife and rising taxes in the cities may encourage some to move to less populated areas, he added.

On the subject of hospitals, they agreed smaller communities should do without federal aid to provide their facilities.

Federal construction and equipment requirements for hospitals seeking federal funds are so demanding that most communities can't afford to put up the matching shares, Dr. Raines said.

The small hospitals throughout the state are able to accomodate 90 to 95% of the medical problems the rural doctors face, Dr. Westerbrook said.

Governor's Unit Awarded Grant

Washington — The Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice has been awarded a $145,146 grant, it was announced Tuesday.

Purpose of the grant is the improvement of state and local law enforcement, according to Rep. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb.

Major New U.S. Effort To Develop Safe Methods Of Birth Control

Washington (AP) — The government Tuesday announced a major new effort to develop an array of new, safe, inexpensive and effective birth control methods.

They would include a "modern male method" via pills or injections in contrast to such present male methods as the use of condoms.

The program will also seek "a more reliable rhythm method" that would be acceptable to the Roman Catholic Church.

$3 Million To Start

The National Institute of Child Health and Development (NICHD) said the program would be started with $3 million, covering 75 contracts concerned both with the development of new contraceptive methods for both "the scientific analysis o befhavioral aspects of population."

Scientists who appeared at a news conference called to announce the venture indicated it would be expanded later.

The program, for one thing, is aimed at at least delaying an expected seven billion world population. It is now due by the year 2000 if the present population explosion continues.

Drawbacks Now

Dr. Philip A. Corfman, director of the institute's center for population research, told newsmen the program was being undertaken because present methods of birth control including oral pills and intrauterine devices, while highly effective, have certain drawbacks including potentially harmful side effects.

He said that present methods of birth control have reached "a biological dead end" and a major quest for improvements is indicated.

And Dr. Gerald D. LaVeck, director of the institute, declared "we do not yet have an ideal contraceptive."

President, Sen. Curtis Meet To Discuss Farm Problems

Washington (AP) — President Nixon met with Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., at the senator's request to discuss farm problems.

Curtis would not disclose what Nixon's views are although he said "my proposals were well received and I am pleased at the President's reaction."

Curtis said he told the President during their 30-minute talk "it should become a major policy of the administration to improve the economic well-being of rural America. The problems in our large cities become greater when our rural youths are neglected.

"When young people from our farms and small cities go to urban centers they need good jobs. These displaced farm youth do not become unemployed, but they take jobs that might otherwise go to trainable urban centers residents."

Action 'Imperative'

Curtis said he believes it is "imperative that the Nixon administration promote programs at the highest level that will increase farm income and better the image of the American farmer."

The government, Curtis said, should "take the lead in bringing about a better understanding among rural people for the problems of the urban centers and in turn bring about a better understanding by residents of the urban areas for rural America."

Curtis said he defines rural America as "consisting not only of the farmers and small towns and cities but all population centers under 50,000."

Tecumseh, State Loans Approved

Washington (UPI) — The Economic Development Administration announced a series of grants and loans.

They included a $322,587 loan for construction of 24 low-rent homes at Tecumseh, Neb.

Also included was a grant of $33,935 for the state of Nebraska for a comprehensive planning assistance program.

MISS VICKI FECHT

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Vicki Elaine Fecht to Lawrence J. W. Lutjemeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lutjemeyer of Otoe, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerhardt Fecht of Gothenburg.

ABBY: he needs food taster

DEAR ABBY: Now I know why God lets the woman outlive her husband by about 10 years. She needs at least that much time to rest and recuperate. Pity the poor woman who's been married 50 years. I've been married 15 years, and if this man of mine doesn't go pretty soon, I pray to God that I will soon be laid to rest. I couldn't take another 35 years of this.

It's nag and brag! Rant and rave! Yell and cuss! All he has on his mind are eat, sleep, and sex (especially sex). A poor woman goes to bed tired and wakes up tired. All a man is good for is his paycheck.

I've heard women talk about how lonely they are after their husbands pass on. Well, here is one who is looking forward to that day. Sign me . . .

"TIRED, TIRED, TIRED IN LONG BEACH"

DEAR TIRED: Too bad you didn't sign your name. A husband is entitled to know how his wife feels about him. He may want to hire a food taster.

DEAR ABBY: I come very close to being the person described by "CO-WORKER." (She raises her children on the telephone on company time.)

Suppose a woman finds herself widowed or divorced with children to support? What are her alternatives? She could:

1. Go on relief.
2. Steal.
3. Sponge off her relatives.
4. Entertain men for money.
5. Do as I did. Go to work.

My children are too old for baby sitters. The hours between after school and the time I get home from work are few, and I don't think their being alone during that time can be called "letting them raise themselves."

My children are told that I am available to them by phone if they have any questions, and I made that clear to my boss when I took this job. My children receive more supervision and attention than children from homes where Mother never leaves home except for bridge parties and club meetings.

If you were in my position, Abby, which alternative would you choose?

WORKING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The one you chose.

"Weekend Fathers" Are Devoted Parents

BY JUDY KLEMESRUD

(c) New York Times Service

New York — They come out in droves on Saturday and Sunday, strolling hand in hand with their children at the city's parks and playgrounds and museums and zoos. They are easy to spot because there is no mother along to mind the youngsters —just them, the fathers.

They are divorced men, and they call themselves "weekend fathers" because this is the only time during the week they get to spend with their children.

The visits should be a time for getting reacquainted . . . a time for exchanging tenderness and affection . . . a time for reassurance that mutual love still exists.

But the weekends are often frenetic. Many fathers think they have to come up with a batch of new and exciting things to do with their children — maybe a helicopter ride around the city or a camping trip in Vermont.

By the time Sunday night rolls around, they're usually "weakened fathers" as well as weekend fathers. But to them it's worth it, because the last thing they want is for their children to go home to their mother and say they were "bored with daddy." Pride. And maybe a little guilty, too.

"My kids used to call me and ask, 'What are we doing this Sunday, Daddy?' " said Marvin Sherman, a 32-year-old sheet metal worker who lives with his mother in the Bronx. "Finally they stopped asking when I told them we weren't going to a special place every Sunday. I told them I was a father and not a playmate, and just the fact that we were together should be enough.

Sherman drives a total of 80 miles each Sunday to spend time with his daughter Lori, 9, and son, Eric, 6. They live in Brooklyn with their mother, who is now married to a widower with three children. The Shermans were divorced a year ago.

Sherman said he thought the hardest part about being a weekend father was taking the children home after spending a day with them.

"I adore my kids . . . I hate to leave them," he said, his voice breaking in midsentence. "My ex-wife used to consider me odd because I used to dress the kids and take them with me even if I went out to buy a pack of cigarettes."

Sherman said he and his children often spent Sundays with his brother-in-law, who is also divorced and a weekend father. The major difference is that the brother-in-law's wife has not remarried.

"Boy, he envies me no end," Sherman said. "He keeps wishing and praying she'd get married so he wouldn'tt have to shell out so much alimony."

This desire to see their former spouses march down the aisle again is one thing that weekend fathers tend to have in common. There are other similarities:

—They tend to live in small, low-rent apartments and can no longer live in the manner to which they were accustomed because such a big chunk of their income — more than 50 per cent in some cases —goes for alimony and child support.

—They miss having a say in the day-to-day rearing of their children, or "sharing their joys and sorrows," as one father put it.

—They find that starting a new social life can be difficult, especially since some prospective second wives are wary about getting involved with a financially strapped divorced man.

"I know from experience that single women aren't anxious to marry divorced men because of the money problems," said Howard Rinkoff, 38, an accountant who lives in a cramped one-room apartment in Greenwich Village. "So divorced men tend to go out with divorced women whose kids are being supported by some other poor sap."

Rinkoff has three children, Barbara, 12, Michael, 9, and Steven, 7, who live with their mother in Spring Valley, N.Y. Sometimes he sees them all on weekends, but because of his lack of space and because he wants to get to know them better individually, he prefers seeing them one at a time.

Dr. Hanna E. Kapit, a Manhattan psychoanalyst who has worked with many single parents, said resentment — usually unconscious — is rather commonplace in the relationship of weekend fathers with their children.

"There is resentment when a child reminds the father of his ex-wife or his unhappy marital relationship," she said. "And there is resentment when a father feels his social life is restricted by his children."

Dan Isaacson, the strapping 37-year-old president of the Manhattan Chapter of Parents Without Partners, believes that weekend fathers are often better fathers than they were when they lived with their children full time.

"You give your kids 100 per cent of your attention when you see them now, whereas before you probably took them for granted''' he said.

MISS SUSAN SCHULZ

Of special interest to Lincoln and its music circles as well as to the University of Nebraska campus is the announcement made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Duane C. Schulz of the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to James D. Durham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dudley Durham of Omaha.

Miss Schulz is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, music honorary. She also is a member of the Lincoln and Omaha Symphony Orchestras. Miss Schulz has attended the Music Academy at West Santa Barbara, Calif., during the past two summers, and this summer she will study cello at the Blossom Festival Music School in Kent, Ohio. In the fall the bride-elect will go to Rochester, N.Y. where she will begin work on her Master's degree in music.

Mr. Durham is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity and of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia honorary. He also is a member of the Lincoln and Omaha Symphony Orchestras, and is continuing his violin study at the Aspen Music Festival for the third summer. Mr. Durham has been a member of the University of Nebraska School of Music staff where he held the strings assistantship for the past two years. This fall he will begin teaching orchestra, as a string specialist, in the Bellevue public schools.

Suburbia Is In A Holiday Mood

The news today is full of exciting things — things like family reunions, picnics and traveling all planned for the long Fourth of July holiday weekend — and summer vacation plans for a member of suburbia's younger set. In fact, we have so much interesting and enjoyable news to share, that we aren't going to postpone its telling for one more minute.

We'll start with the Eastborough family of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McBride who will go to Shelton Friday morning to spend the weekend as the house guests of Mrs. McBride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Leonard. Of course the younger generation of McBrides — Jerry, 11, and Jana, five, will receive a red carpet welcome from their grandparents.

It's a very busy week for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cranwell. Last night Mr. Cranwell was a guest at the picnic given by the Lincoln Women's Barbershop Chorus, of which Mrs. Cranwell is a member, when they had their husbands as guests. The picnic was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kimball and especially honored were two couples who will be leaving town soon. Those guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Henderson, who will be moving to Liberty, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wiegert who soon will be residing in Denver, Colo.

But that isn't all the activities for Mr. and Mrs. Cranwell. Today they are leaving for the Ogallala home of Mrs. Cranwell's mother, Mrs. James Putman. While they are in Ogallala, Mr. and Mrs. Cranwell and three-and-a-half month old Heather Jo will be house guests of Mrs. Putman and will attend a reunion of Mrs. Putman's family. Mr. and Mrs. Cranwell and Heather Jo will return to their Eastborough home Sunday evening.

Since we have already mentioned one picnic, we don't want to forget the neighborhood Fourth of July backyard party for which Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Dobowski will be host and hostess on Friday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Dobowski are expecting between 30 and 50 neighbors for the big event which will be held in the yard of their Maple Village home.

Surprise Party A Farewell Courtesy

Gary Schmohr had his evening all planned last Saturday. He was to spend it calling on his old friends to say his farewells. Young Mr. Schmohr was a United States Naval Academy appointee and he was leaving on Sunday for Annapolis.

But somehow things didn't work out the way he had planned. His friends weren't at home. As a matter of fact they were at his house awaiting his arrival home so they could all shout "surprise."

Eventually everyone settled down and a spaghetti supper was served.

The party-planners were Gregg Bomberger, Carolyn Johnson, Mary Cunningham and Jenny Kessler and the group on hand were classmates at Southeast High School who graduated with the honored guest just last May.

Seated on the floor are, from the left, Jane Eikleberry, Monte Evans, Carolyn Johnson, Donn Schmohr, Holly Gib..s, Gregg Bomberger and Anne Freeman.

Know Your Antiques

BY RALPH

Pickles led a different life during the late 19th century. Each housewife made her own. They were served with almost every meal.

The pickle caster was designed and sold in quantity about 1890. It was kept on the dining room table. The pickles were keept in the tall covered glass jar. The tongs on the silver or silver plated holder were used to remove a pickle from the jar. A cover kept the flies away. The useful, attractive pickle caster was popular for about 10 years.

Q. How old is "Gaudy Dutch" china?

A. The Pennsylvania German settlers of the 18th century were delighted to buy the English made "Gaudy Dutch" (probably originally called "Gaudy Deutsch") when it first arrived about 1780. The dishes were originally made to sell to lower income English families.

Gaudy Dutch designs are imitations of early Chinese and Japanse patterns. The oriental patterns were copied by the best English potters. The copies were then adapted to the bolder, more colorful Gaudy Dutch patterns that sold at lower prices. Red, blue, orange, green, and later gold, were the favorite colors. Flower patterns such as Double Rose, Carnation, Sunflower, or adaptations like War Bonnet and Oyster were popular. Sixteen patterns are known.

Gaudy Dutch lost favor by 1820. Gaudy Walsh, an adaptation with less detailed painting and more gold decoration became popular at that time.

Q. Buttons of brass are in a box of old junk we found after a death in our family. Many of the buttons have the seal of the state of Oregon with the word Oregon. The other side of the button has the name "Scoviil Mfg. Waterbury-Pacific Button Co. San Fran. Cal." They look like buttons found on work clothes.

A. Scovill Manufacturing Company of Waterbury, Conn. has made buttons since 1802. The name Scovill Manufacturing was used after 1850. The company has made various types of uniform buttons. They are still in business making buttons and other brass items. Your buttons must have been made to order for the San Francisco Company after 1890.

Board To Ask Unicam For More Money For Voc Ed

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Board of Education Tuesday made plans to ask the Legislature for more money for vocational education and other Department of Education programs it said are being "crippled" by a tight-fisted 1969-71 budget appropriation.

Commissioner of Education Cecil Stanley was directed to arrange a meeting between the Legislature's Budget Committee and the board as soon as possible to discuss supplemental appropriation needs.

"Voc rehab was given just enough money to handle existing cases for the next two years," Fred Novak, former division head, advised the board. "There's no money for any new cases."

Novak said no new persons could be handled unless "a rigid priorities schedule was used for retrenchment of the program."

'Just As Important'

Board member John Londay of Omaha said the department's voc rehab program "is just as important as the construction ($10 million) money given the University of Nebraska."

Londay suggested the board hire "a paid lobbyist — like the university has — if that's what it takes.

"I'm serious, he added.

Stanley said $500,000 more is needed for vocational rehabilitation as an investment in getting people back on their feet and off the welfare rolls.

He also noted the program generates four federal dollars for every state dollar spent.

Unicam 'Chintzy'

Board member Robert Simmons Jr. of Scottsbluff said the Legislature "was chintzy" with the money allocated to the department-operated schools for the blind and deaf at Omaha and Nebraska City.

"Apparently, the Unicameral is more interested in people on poverty programs than in handicapped persons."

The board also authorized its personnel committee, headed by Londay, to review the salary schedule of the department in light of the new biennial budget and make recommendations to the board at its Aug. 8 meeting.

"Some salaries are too low," Londay said. "The whole structure needs to be reviewed. It may take more money or more flexibility from the Legislature."

Other personnel committee members are Lloyd Wright of Reynolds and Frank Landis of Lincoln.

Jones Named

In other action, the board named Cyrus Jones as acting assistant commissioner for vocational rehabilitation on an interim basis to Sept. 1, succeeding Fred Novak, who resigned from the post and requested reassignment within the division.

The board also agreed to review later the code of ethics suggested for state departments and commissions in line with the new law enacted by the Legislature.

Simmons said the "uniform" code should be adopted in principle by the board, but board member John Wagoner of Grand Island contended "some terms and definitions" need modification to fit the state board.

The board also:

—Authorized final payment of $5,000 to Technomics Inc., a California consulting firm which made a study for the department. The contractual payment was approved by the attorney general's office.

—Authorized payment of 1969-70 membership dues of $950 to the National Association of State Boards of Education and $1,000 to the Council of Chief State School Officers.

Grant Awarded

Washington — Dr. Richard L. Neile of the University of Nebraska has been awarded a $6,600 research grant by the Health, Education and Welfare Department, according to Rep. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb.

VC Hit Civilians Harder This Year

Saigon (AP) — Viet Cong terrorists sharply stepped up their attacks against civilians in the past six months, compared with the previous half year, official U.S. figures show.

During the period Jan. 1 to June 28 of this year 3,798 civilians were slain, 9,617 were wounded and 4,591 were kidnaped. Government reports for the previous six months show 2,946 killed, 6,714 wounded and 4,466 kidnaped.

Favorite targets for the Viet Cong gunmen are hamlet and village officials and Communist defectors responding to the government's open arms program.

Burger Stresses Reforms; Outside Activities Irrelevant

©The New York Times

Jackson Hole, Wyo. — Warren E. Burger, in his first official appearance since becoming chief justice of the United States, said Tuesday he will take the lead in reforming the administration of justice in this country.

In this judicial area at least, Burger indicated that his role would be stronger than that of his predecessor, Earl Warren. He said that in behalf of court reform he was prepared to go against the current pressure toward a more cloistered judiciary.

"I intend to take a very active part. All the talk of outside activities of judges is totally irrelevant to the administration of justice," he said. "Far from withdrawing, I intend to accelerate my activities."

Burger told a panel of the 10th Circuit Judicial Conference he would soften his rather conservative reputation.

He responded to what he called a Time magazine psychoanalysis of his philosophy. The magazine in its May 30 edition said Burger was seriously concerned that recent court decisions had severely hampered criminal prosecutors.

"It could not have been more wrong," he said. "In fact, the defense side is not strong enough."

Referring to the work of the American Bar association's special committee on minimum standards for the administration of criminal justice, which he still heads, Burger said: "Our objective was to make plans so that we will get better lawyers on the defense side. With that competition there will also be better prosecutors."

But his main theme was judicial reform and his own intention to play an important off-the-bench role in it. Burger does not intend, for example, to quit as chairman of the American Bar Association committee which he heads.

Budget Troubles Hit Many States

By The Associated Press

California and Ohio began a new fiscal year Tuesday without a state budget and with no authority to spend money. Pennsylvania also lacked a new budget, but was getting by. Bills could not be paid.

A number of other states, while not that badly off, were forced to impose new taxes to make ends meet.

Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan's refusal to accept an emergency bill to keep the state running solvently for the next 30 days plunged California into unprecedented fiscal chaos.

Salaries for employes of the nation's most populous state were cut off and Reagan asked them to work for free. State officials no longer had authority to pay wages or bills.

In Missouri, Democratic Gov. Warren E. Hearnes claimed an income tax increase and other financial measures were essential to meet a record $1.3-billion budget for the new fiscal year. An opposing group instead passed a bill boosting cigarette taxes from four to nine cents a pack, to finance a $35-million increase in state aid to public schools.

In Arkansas, Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller sought nearly $100 million in new revenues, with a one per cent hike in the current three per cent sales tax as a major proposal.

Instead, the legislature defeated the sales tax increase, but provided a potential $25 million additional revenue by raising taxes on cigarettes, other tobacco products, beer and liquor.

North Carolina had been the only state in the nation without a tobacco tax, until the 2-cent-a-pack levy was imposed to help meet a record budget. The gasoline tax in the state was boosted from 7 cents to 9 cents a gallon.

College Student Appointed Regent

Charleston, W. Va. (AP) — Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. has appointed a 21-year-old university student to a position on the State Board of Regents.

The board administers higher education in West Virginia, including two universities and eight state-supported colleges.

Moore named John R. Hoblitzell III of Parkersburg to the nine-member board. He is a senior prelaw major at West Virginia University.

Chadron's Dorm Featured In Ad

Chadron (UPI) — The high-rise dormitory at Chadron State College will appear in a full-page color advertisement in four magazines in July.

Critics Prolong War, Agnew Tells Governors

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — Vice President Spiro Agnew said Tuesday that critics of the Nixon administration's Vietnam policy encouraged the enemy to remain uncompromising.

Agnew forsook a discussion of domestic issues to speak on the Vietnam war in an address at the Midwestern Governors' Conference.

Agnew quoted President Nixon as saying on May 14 that if the United States is to move from an era of confrontation to an era of negotiation, it will have to demonstrate that confrontation is costly and unrewarding.

"Along with inflation," he told the governors, "our involvement in Vietnam makes it presently impossible to increase our assistance to state and local governments to the desired level."

Agnew devoted much of the address to criticism of "many self-professed experts on the Vietnam war."

"But these experts, caught in the deep emotional desire to end human suffering are mainly honest and sincere in their purpose," he added.

Washington (UPI) — Federal Aviation Administrator John H. Shaffer said he was hopeful that President Nixon would give a go-ahead for the controversial supersonic airliner.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

We drove across Ireland twice in the same day. From Galway Bay to Dublin in the morning. And back to Galway Bay in the afternoon.

It's 133 miles from the Atlantic to the Irish sea. But it takes four hours on the twisty Irish road. It's not double-track or straightened. And in the misty morning as you round the bend, you're likely to run into a dozen cows being herded along by a boy on a bicycle.

With the wheel on the right and driving on the left, it's a scary squeeze passing the oncoming car.

It was a fine day. The sun shining on the green Irish fields. Fat white clouds hung on the hills.

The gray Atlantic land gives way to softer country. The grim, gray castles of the west disappear. In their place you see the grand ruins of monasteries where holy men drew illuminated manuscripts. And later died in smoke and flame as Cromwell's troopers rode through Ireland.

☆ ☆ ☆

I can hardly find my way around Dublin now that the Nelson Pillar is gone. "Blown up by the bold boys of the IRA," they say.

The Irish Republican Army is outlawed — there are few left who fought the English. But some who inherit the spirit blow up a statue left over from British occupation days now and then.

Three in Phoenix Park. One in St. Stephen's Green. The last to go was the Pillar with Lord Nelson at the top. It stood in bustling O'Connell Street. Shawled Irishwomen sold flowers at the base.

Then one night — boom! And the hero of Trafalgar came toppling down.

☆ ☆ ☆

We had lunch in the elegant Gresham Hotel. Smoked Irish trout with horseradish. And the best Irish coffee in Ireland.

In the afternoon we drove back to little Ballyvaughan where we have a thatched Irish cottage. And I hurried up to O'Donohoe's grocery store and pub to hear the news.

The Fianna Fail won the election. The Labor contenders were defeated. (For Fianna Fail read "Republican." For Labor, "Democrat.")

☆ ☆ ☆

It's a tiny pub. A lady tends bar and runs out occasionally to sell groceries.

They are farm laborers who drink dark Guinness stout in O'Donohoe's. Big men in rubber boots and cloth caps.

An elderly man with a long face and a slash of a grin sat in the corner talking a monologue to no one.

"Three and six," says he. "And another I'll have," says I. "For we're off to France in the morning, me boy."

The man beside me said: "He's not to mind. For he was wounded in the war and two brothers killed. He'll go on for hours but it's no harm."

"What war was that?" I asked.

"That would be 1914," he said. "In Flanders."

☆ ☆ ☆

Ireland was under British rule then. And Irish regiments marched off to the Great War singing, "It's A Long, Long Way To Tipperary."

In World War II, Ireland was a republic and stayed neutral. Some of the IRA sympathized with the Germans—"anything against the English."

☆ ☆ ☆

"I'll take the bus, says I to him" (said the old soldier in the corner)—"but I'll have me pint before I go, I will. Lance Corporal MacNamara, at your service, says I."

"No mind," said the man next to me. "He's a poor old soul and the memories spring up in him. And those days are all gone now, so they are. It's a different day in Ireland."

Motorists Urged To Drive Safely

State Patrol Superintendent Col. James E. Kruger Tuesday urged motorists to drive with extra caution over the Fourth of July weekend.

Kruger said Nebraska had six traffic deaths over the Independence Day holiday last year and 10 the year before.

"After watching the passing Independence Day parade for a number of years, one sometimes is tempted to become a bit cynical," he said. "Each year we sound the same warning — asking motorists to be careful and to drive safely. But each year we count the traffic toll when the Fourth of July is over.

"It's up to you to see to it that you don't make that mistake. Take it easy, stay alert and alive — make this July 4th worth remembering."

Red Cross Dismissal In Nigeria An 'Insult'

©The New York Times

Geneva — Marcel A. Naville, new president of the International Committee of the Red Cross, Tuesday denounced the Nigerian government for having dismissed the humanitarian organization "in the same way that a faithless servant is shown the door."

An announcement Monday by the Nigerian government that it was taking over the committee's role of coordinator of international relief for Nigeria was a "deliberate insult" to the humanitarian ideal for which the Red Cross stood, Naville said at a news conference.

At the same time the Red Cross official said that with the flow of relief supplies to Nigeria's encircled rebel eastern region of Biafra now cut off for three weeks, "several hundred thousand children are going to die in the next few days."

The Red Cross president spoke in unusually strong terms in contrast with the traditionally guarded statements of an organization that jealously preserves its neutrality in all circumstances.

Federal Loan Okayed For Co-Op House

Rep. Robert Denney's office Tuesday announced the approval of a $290,000 federal loan for the construction of a new house for Cornhusker Co-Op, Inc.

Cornhusker is a cooperative house offering low-cost board and room to male students at the University of Nebraska. The students assist with the work at the house.

Cornhusker now operates a house at 1319 R and a nearby rented annex.

Officers of the cooperative said the new house would provide rooms and dining space for 84 students.

The federal loan involved will be at a low interest rate, allowing the cooperative to serve students of limited means, co-op officers said.

Cornhusker officers said they could not at this point announce a site for the new structure.

Fighting Is Intermittent In Mideast

Tel Aviv (AP) — Israeli jets bombed four suspected Arab guerrilla bases in Jordan Tuesday. Along the Suez Canal a fierce artillery duel by Egyptian and Israeli forces was reported.

Israeli planes are concentrating on guerrilla camps and not on regular Jordanian army positions as they did earlier.

In Tel Aviv, 16 Israeli soldiers and Arabs were injured by two hand grenades that exploded in a crowded market place in Israeli-held Gaza City, military sources said.

Two of the Israelis were seriously wounded, they said, and most of the injured Arabs were children.

The incident was one of the most serious in the Gaza Strip since the region was occupied by Israeli in the 1967 six-day war.

Senators Divided 48 To 48 Over ABM Deployment

Washington (UPI) — For the first time, President Nixon's proposal to deploy an antiballistic missile (ABM)defense has pulled even in the Senate, but it still needs more votes to assure it of passage, a new UPI poll showed Tuesday.

The latest canvass of Senators revealed a 48 to 48 standoff between proponents and opponents of plans to start building the safeguard. Four Senators, three Republicans and a Democrat, still are so firmly uncommitted that it is impossible to even gain an indication of how they stand.

UPI made the new poll a week before the Senate is scheduled to begin debate on the military procurement authorization bill which contains $794 million for deployment of the Safeguard ABM.

Doane Receives Grant Of $5,860

Crete (UPI) — Doane College this week announced receipt of a $5,860 library resources grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

This is the third consecutive year Doane has received funds under title 2 of the higher education act of 1965.

Funds may be used only for acquisition of library materials. The basic grant is for $5,000 and the $860 is a supplemental grant based on student enrollment and total HEW funds available.

Tabitha Receives Gift

Tabitha Home of Lincoln has received a $29,524 gift from a former woman resident from Eureka, Kan.

The woman, Mrs. Frances Clark, who died in 1968 left most of her estate to the home.

Harold Norby, executive director of the home, said the money will be used to help pay for construction of a new 135-bed skilled nursing unit.

RENEWED

Johnny Carson has renewed his contract with NBC as host of the "Tonight" Show, the network said Tuesday. The duration of the long-term contract or its amount was not revealed. However, it is reported that Carson is presently receiving $1 million a year.

OEO Allocates Funds For A Family Planning Service

A medically-oriented family planning service for low-income persons in Lincoln has been funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity, Lincoln Action Program director Art May announced Tuesday.

LAP received a total of $40,087 in federal funds as requested for the program, May reported. Some $9,700 in local matching funds also will be contributed to the service.

The family planning service will be offered through the Lincoln-Lancaster County Health Department. The program is expected to be operating in about one month

May said that the first step in organizing the service will be the appointment of an advisory committee, composed of physicians, social workers and low-income persons.

The advisory committee will be responsible for establishing the policies of the family planning services within the OEO guidelines, according to May.

OEO guidelines specify that the service may be provided only to voluntary participants, that the service cannot be used as a prerequisite for participation in other anti-poverty programs, and that no program funds may be used for promoting the availability of the service in the mass media or for surgical procedures.

Criteria for eligibility, except for meeting the standard low-income criteria, is left to the discretion of local advisory committees, according to May.

Storm Toll Rises

Wayne — Some of the freshmen planning to enter Wayne State College this fall took an advance look at the college this week. About 200 of them, most of them with parents, attended one of the five freshman orientation programs which the college offers.

Still Pack Wallop

New York (UPI) — Two famous names in boxing still pack a mighty wallop long after their ring deeds are done.

For the grandfathers and great grandfathers of America, Jack Dempsey still is the king. For the dads who grew up in the tough depression years, it's Joe Louis.

Kids of 12 aren't supposed to cry but I almost did when Dempsey lost to Gene Tunney that first time.

I nearly wept when Louis, creaking and broke at 37, tried his final comeback at Madison Square Garden and Rocky Marciano stretched him out on the ring apron in the eighth round. Rocky felt like crying, too.

'Hated To Do It'

"I hated to do it," said Marciano, then only a year away from the title, himself. "He was my idol."

Thus, the older generations interested in boxing have an edge on the moderns whose memories don't go back as far as Joe Louis.

The younger set, except for those followers of Cassius Clay, mostly must look for idols in other arenas — pro football, baseball, basketball or whatever.

There is little to evoke emotional memories about the heavyweight champs between Dempsey and Louis, Louis and now.

When Joe went down for a count the other day, winding up in a New York hospital, it seemed the whole world suddenly remembered.

Phone calls, cables, letters and telegrams flowed from around the globe.

They Remembered Him

It has been more than 20 years since Louis wore the heavyweight crown. But people remembered. They remembered him as a fighter and as a man, not as an object of sympathy for ghastly financial errors he had made.

Dempsey and Louis were products of an era — Dempsey in the golden age of sports in the 1920's, Louis in the dark days of a depression, a world war and a period in which black athletes were beginning to emerge as human beings.

The signs of that emergence weren't easy to recognize. There was a feeling among officials, on a hot summer night in Chicago 32 years ago, that all hell would break loose in and around Comiskey Park when Louis as expected — would win the heavyweight title from James J. Braddock.

Bitter Image

Jack Johnson, first Negro champion from 1908-15, had left a bitter image with the public by his way of life outside the ring. The term "white hope" was coined during Johnson's tenure. The color of a fighter's skin became an issue.

Along came Louis. He was called by such names as "brown bomber" and "dark destroyer" but somehow those became terms of affection rather than a racial issue.

So there were mighty cheers in Comiskey Park when Joe knocked out Braddock and became the first titleholder of his race since Jack Johnson. There were no riots, no fist fights, merely a general acceptance by the witnesses that here was a fighting machine perhaps more worthy of the title than any since Dempsey.

Between 1937 and his first retirement in 1949, he defended his title a record 25 times by beating up the best men available as well as his "bums of the month."

As a boxer and as a man, he suffered two key setbacks. Max Schmeling kayoed him in their first fight before Joe became champ and later the income tax people threw him for a loss. His reaction to each disaster was the same:

"I forgot to duck."

Star Sports Editor Hal Brown is on vacation.

—COLT STAR RETIRES—

'Captain Who' Calls It Quits

Baltimore (AP) — Alex Hawkins retired Tuesday from professional football. Who? Captain Who, that's who.

Never a star the likes of teammates quarterback John Unitas or end Raymond Berry on the Baltimore Colts, the Hawk still made headlines on and off the gridiron.

He was what sports writers lovingly call a character. And although he waddled like a duck running pigeon toed and displayed no finesse, Hawkins played 10 years on defense and offense in the National Football League.

He brought recognition to the so-called specialty teams as captain of them for the Colts. They also are called the suicide teams, tearing down field on kickoffs and protecting against them and punts.

"It's kind of fun if you like that kind of humor," he said once.

He acquired the nickname Captain Who in pre-game introductions. Coach Don Shula started the practice of sending Hawkins out with the Colt co-captains, Unitas and defensive giant Gino Marchetti.

When introduced to Hawkins, new officials would inquire "Captain Who?"

As specialty captain, Hawkins announced there would be a weekly $100 prize for the best performance.

"I've won 'em all," he told an inquiring reporter after the announcement. "You see, I have the only vote, but you can say there have been some close seconds."

Two dark of the night escapades were typical of Hawkins off the field. One night at a hotel in California, he tried to sneak out by climbing down scaffolding on the outside of the building. But waiting on the ground for him was Weeb Ewbank, then coach of the Colts. Hawkins mumbled something about getting a breath of fresh air.

Two years ago, he was among nine men arrested at 4:45 a.m. playing poker in the back room of a barber shop. Hawkins mumbled something about having his light blond hair cut.

While full of humor and not one to attempt to hide his love for living it up, Hawkins could be equally as flamboyant in a football uniform.

In 1966, he went to Atlanta in the expansion draft of the NFL and led the team in pass receiving with 44 catches. He was released after the second game of 1967 and was retrieved by the Colts.

It was a lucky Colt move when both Berry and his backup, Ray Perkins, were injured. Hawkins caught a touchdown pass which helped the Colts tie Los Angeles and another in a 17-13 victory over Washington for which he was awarded the game ball.

Hawkins didn't let it go to his head, expressing hope that Berry and Perkins would be back. "They can do a better job and I'd rather be a good backup man than a bad first team man."

Hawkins wrote down 10 reasons why he was retiring — make that quitting because "that's what you do when you've been a player like me. You just out and quit."

Among the reasons was "if Joe Namath doesn't play, neither will I."

Track Acts As Broker For Betting Fans

(Third of a Series)

When you place a $2.00 bet on a horse — and that is the minimum amount you can wager — you buy a share in the performance of a particular horse in a particular race.

If you bet your horse to win, and it does, you will share with others who bet the same horse, in 86% of all win money wagered on all horses in the race.

The track acts as a broker for the transaction and deducts a commission. The amount is set by the state. In Nebraska, it comes to 28c of every $2.00 wagered. Of that, the state gets 4% as a tax after the first $1 million has been handled at each meeting, and the remainder, or 10%, is retained by the track.

All the rest goes into the pool to be returned to holders of winning tickets.

The same process holds true for persons holding tickets on horses that place (finish second) or show (finish third). The public shares only on horses that win, place or show.

The bettors determine the odds, or the eventual return of monies. The horse on which the most money is bet produces the least return if he finished first, second or third. If a "long shot" (a horse with large odds) wins, the holders of winning tickets will receive much more money because fewer persons bought tickets and they, and they alone, share in the pool of all monies wagered on all horses entered.

To determine the payoff for place or show, the pool first is divided into two parts for place and three parts for show. Those parts are again divided by the number of persons who purchased tickets on the horses involved.

The three categories that attract most betting are:

Win — This ticket pays only if the horse selected wins.

Place — Here you collect from the place pool if the horse finishes first or second.

Show — If the horse you bet to finish third (show), wins, places or shows, you collect — but only from the show pool, not from the higher odds paid those who bet the horse to win or place.

To bet all three at one time, the Fairgrounds has a "combination" ticket, which means the persons holding such tickets collect everything the horse pays off — to win, place and show. A combination ticket costs $6.00 (or $2.00 to win, $2.00 to place, $2.00 to show) or $15.00, which returns 2½ times the amount a horse wins, for a $2.00 bet.

Simplified, here's how it works:

Joe X. bets a $15.00 combination on "Horse X" and that animal finishes second. It's payoff is calculated to be $5.60 to place and $3.40 to show. The holder of the $15.00 combination then collects $22.50. The holder of a $6.00 combination on the same horse would collect $9.00. A person with a $2.00 place ticket would collect $5.60 and the successful show better would receive $3.40.

Holders of win tickets on "Horse X" lost their money.

One other system of betting is available, the daily double. This involves a separate pool of money bet. To win the daily double, the bettor must correctly select, prior to the first race, the winner of both the first and second races. No place or show bets are involved in the daily double.

The payoff on the daily double is not determined by what is bet on each horse in the regular betting polls; the odds usually are considerably larger, just as the chances of selecting two winners is more difficult.

In 1939 at Washington Park in Chicago, only one ticket was sold on a certain combination of horses in the daily double — and it was a winner. The return was $10,772.40. In the regular betting pools on the same horses, the first winner paid $131.40 and the winner of the second race paid $20.00 for each $2.00 bet.

The Fairgrounds record, return on a daily double was $2,447.20 for a $2.00 bet during the 1968 meeting.

A point to remember: keep your tickets until a race is declared official. No race is official until the riders have dismounted and weighed in. If all weights check and there is no official inquiry or claim of a foul lodged, the official sign and payoff prices are posted on a board located on the track's infield.

If a claim is lodged and upheld by the officials, the order of finish may be changed. This could turn a losing ticket into a winner — or the reverse.

Phils Top Pittsburgh By 7-4 Tally

. . . CARDS WIN

By Associated Press

The lowly Montreal Expos stunned the high-flying Chicago Cubs with two five-run innings and rolled to their second consecutive victory over the East Division leaders, 11-4, Tuesday.

The Expos, who had lost four in a row until Chicago came to town, exploded against Ken Holtzman, 10-3, in the third inning. Ron Brand beat out a bunt, Bobby Wine singled and winner Steve Renko singled in Brand.

Former Cub Adolfo Phillips singled to load the bases and two runs scored when Gary Sutherland hit into a fielder's choice as Glenn Beckert threw wild to second base on his grounder. Phillips scored on a wild pitch and Bob Bailey hit a sacrifice fly.

Randy Hundley hit his 13th homer in the sixth inning for the Cubs, who had taken three straight victories over St. Louis into the series and had won seven of their last eight games.

Terry Harmon and Rick Joseph each drove in two runs as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated Pittsburgh 7-4 for their eighth victory in a row.

Frank Fernandez' three-run homer in the seventh inning helped New York overcome a power display by Baltimore's Boog Powell, who knocked in seven runs, and the Yankees nipped the Orioles 10-9.

Sonny Jackson's bases-loaded, run-scoring single in the 10th inning gave the Atlanta Braves a 5-4 victory over Cincinnati.

Doubles by Mike Shannon and Steve Hunt drove in five runs in the fifth inning that carried St. Louis past the New York Mets 8-5 and gave the Cardinals a sweep of a doubleheader.

Steve Carlton pitched a three-hitter in St. Louis' 4-1 opening game triumph.

Tom Tresh hit a pair of homers, a double and a single as the Detroit Tigers ripped Boston 12-4.

Tresh, obtained from the New York Yankees last month, hit his first homer as a Tiger in the first, a solo blast. He then contributed a two-run double and Jim Northrup had a two-run triple in a five-run second that gave Detroit a 6-2 lead.

Tresh had another solo homer in the fourth, then touched off a four-run sixth with a looping single down the right field line.

Northrup hit his 13th homer of the season with a man on and Bill Freehan followed with his 10th in the big inning.

Frank Howard hit a homer in each game and drove in the winning run in the nightcap with a ninth-inning single as Washington swept a doubleheader from Cleveland 4-1 and 7-5.

Two homers by Rich Reese and one each by Leo Cardenas and Ted Uhlaender guided the Minnesota Twins to a 10-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

And Jim Spencer's two-run double hgh-lighted a five-run explosion in the seventh inning that helped the California Angels to a 9-3 victory over Kansas City.

Don Mincher's three-run-homer climaxed a seven-run outburst in the fifth inning that powered Seattle past Oakland 7-1.

Manny Mota's inside-the-park homer in the seventh inning broke up a tense pitching duel between Bill Singer and Houston's Denny Lemaster and gave Los Angeles a 4-1 victory over the Astros.

1st National Gets 3-2 Win; Roberts Falls

First National Bank picked up single runs in the second, third and fourth innings Tuesday night for a 3-2 victory over Nebraska City in an American Legion Junior baseball game at Sherman Field.

In a Midget game, Hallam's Russell Strufing allowed Roberts only two hits, blanking the Lincolnites, 8-0. Roberts' defense committed five errors in the contest.

Nebraska City was unable to score until the fourth against First National and the Bankers held a 3-1 margin moving into the ninth.

Two First National errors placed Nebraska City within one run, 3-2, in the top of the ninth, but the Bankers shut off the valve to preserve the victory.

Bob Martens' double provided First National with one run in the third and Gary Kuenning's single in the fourth scored another.

Ashe Gains Semifinals Of Wimbledon Tourney

. . . GRAEBNER, LUTZ OUSTED

Wimbledon, England (AP) — Arthur Ashe is the only U.S. player remaining in the men's singles of the Wimbledon Open tennis tournament after he eliminated Bob Lutz of Los Angeles Tuesday and Clark Graebner failed on three match points and bowed to Tony Roche of Australia.

Roche defeated the powerful New Yorker, 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 11-9. Earlier, Ashe had advanced to the semifinals at the expense to the semifinals the expense of Lutz, a Davis Cup teammate from Southern California, 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5.

Rod Laver, flame-haired defending champion from Australia, swept through Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3. The remaining spot in the round of four went to John Newcombe, also of Australia, who halted Tom Okker of The Netherlands, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

In the semifinals on Thursday, Roche will play Newcombe, and Ashe, who hails from Richmond, Va., will meet Laver.

In the women's singles semifinals Wednesday, Mrs. Margaret Court of Australia, two-time winner of the Wimbledon crown from Australia, plays Mrs. Ann Jones of England and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco meets Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., seeking a fourth straight title.

After his victory over Lutz, Ashe said:

"My game seems to be getting better with every game. I've played Laver twice before. Each time I've lost. But he doesn't scare me. He's had a few cliff hangers this week.

"As long as my game continues to improve I've high hopes of taking the crown back home with me."

Ashe is trying to become the first Negro man to win the Wimbledon title.

Althea Gibson won the women's singles championship in 1957 and 1958.

The most disappointed man as another day of sunshine turned into [illegible] hint of thunder wasGraebner.

"I took the first two sets," Graebner said. "I thought I had him. Then I had three match points. I lost those. And Roche fought back well."

The match was a battle of serve and volley — with Roche invariably killing Graebner's lobs.

Twice in the 12th game Graebner left Roche off the hook. The Australian saved two match points. Then the left-handed Aussie saved another match point in the 18th game.

That was Graebner's last chance. The rain started spitting down. It troubled the bespectacled Graebner. The American's driving went and Roche broke through and held his own service for the match.

Sheary's Hurling Is Near Perfect In King's Victory

Lefty Sheary pitched perfect ball for 4 2-3 innings and finished with a two-hitter in leading Kings to a 15-1 AAA softball victory over the Tack Room at Ballard Field Tuesday night.

In Tuesday night's other game, Flynn's defeated Bob's Tavern, 8-6.

Two fifth inning singles ruined Sheary's bid for a perfect game, but it didn't make much difference in the outcome as several walks, seven King's hits and seven Tack Room errors gave King's 15 runs, 11 in the fourth inning, and the victory.

Net Meet Set July 18-20

Lincoln tennis enthusiasts of all ages are being offered an opportunity to compete in a city-wide tournament July 18 to 20.

The tournament, sponsored by the Jacobin Club, will offer divisions for boys and girls 13 and under, 15 and under, 18 and under, men and women, and a senior men's division for players over 45 years old.

Bill North, tournament director, said the brackets were designed to encourage maximum participation throughout the city.

Entry blanks for the new tournament are being distributed at various city recreation facilities, YMCA, YWCA, and sporting goods stores.

Plans now call for playoffs in the boys' and girls' divisions July 18 at Woods Memorial Pool courts. Men's, women's, and senior men's divisions are scheduled to be played at University of Nebraska courts July 19 and 20. Adjustments to these schedules may be announced later as entries are received.

An entry fee of $1 will be charged for singles events, $2 for team events.

Andretti Sets Record In Rocky Mountain Drill

Castle Rock, Colo. (AP) — Indianapolis winner Mario Andretti, who drove to victory Sunday in the Pikes Peak hill climb, shattered a Continental Divide raceway track record Tuesday in practicing for next Sunday's Rocky Mountain 150.

The Nazareth, Pa., driver took Andy Granatelli's Indy-winning Ford around the 2.66-mile, 10-turn track in one minute, 46.6 seconds, just short of 90 miles per hour. The time shattered the mark of 1:47.1, set last month by Jerry Hansen in a Lola Chevy in qualifying for the Denver Post Grand Prix.

Yarborough Sets '400' Qualifying Pace At Daytona

Daytona Beach, Fla. (AP) — Gale Yarborough set a record of 190.407 miles per hour Tuesday as qualifying began for the July 4 Medal of Honor 400 miles stock car race at Daytona International Speedway.

Yarborough's blazing lap around the 2.5 mile, tri-oval won him the pole position in the $86,000 event and assured him of the favorite's role to repeat his record victory of last year.

The Timmonsville, S.C., Mercury driver won the 1968 Firecracker race with an average speed of 167.237 mph.

The previous single-lap mark for the Daytona highbank course, was 190.027 mph, set by David Pearson in a Ford last February.

Yarborough's mark was almost three miles per hour faster than the next best qualifier, Donnie Allison, who posted 187.703 mph in a Ford.

Chrysler Men Get Together

A new racing-oriented auto club called the Ramchargers of Lincoln has been formed in recent months and is seeking to expand its membership.

The club, which brings together owners of Chrysler Corporation cars, is similar to the old GM Racing Team and currently includes about 15 members.

The Ramchargers work together in area drag racing events, do various types of charitable work and help motorists in distress. Recently the club helped in a fund-raising project for Madonna Home.

Harvey Nash, regional advisor for the National Hot Rod Association, serves as club-advisor.

Recently elected club officials include Dave Brcka, president; Gary Luedtke, vice president; and Ken Horner, secretary-treasurer.

Market Extends Latest Advance

New York (AP) — The stock market extended its latest advance through a second session Tuesday as trading perked up from the previous day's slow pace.

Turnover on the New York Stock Exchange came to 9.90 million shares, compared with 8.64 million shares Monday.

The volume expansion, an analyst said, "seems to indicate that some investors who were waiting to see if the market could keep rising decided to get back on the bandwagon.

"If it keeps on attracting a following, we might get a really good technical rally."

The Dow Jones industrial average was off a fraction in early trading, but it gathered strength slowly as trading progressed, and by the close it was ahead 2.71 at 875.90. The gain followed a 3.43 advance in the DJI Monday, when the push to the upside got under way.

The gains marked the first time the Dow industrial had advanced for two straight sessions since May 13-14. The DJI hit its 1969 closing high of 968.85 May 14.

Gains took a thin early lead over losses and expanded it. Of 1,563 issues traded, 793 advanced and 518 declined.

There were 10 new highs for the year and 130 new lows.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 1. to 312.1, with industrials up 1.2, rails up .2, and utilities up 1.0.

Steels were mixed, with Jones & Laughlin Steel up 1⅜. Conglomerates had a higher tone. Ling-Temco-Vought and National General advanced fractions.

Aircrafts were fractionally lower.

Electronics, utilities and chemicals mostly were higher. Rails and airlines were mixed.

Blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the New York exchange totaled 49, compared with 32 Monday.

Hewlett-Packard, in which a 246,000-share-block was traded, led the Big Board active list as 12 of the 20 most-active issues advanced and declined.

Hewlett-Packard gained 2¼ to 84.

Prices generally were higher on the American Stock Exchange.

The Amex index gained 21 cents to $28.10. Volume was 4.32 million shares, compared with 3.46 million Monday.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Advice Given To Couple In Nebraska Questioned

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Switching Unwise

A letter from a woman reader in the grass roots of Nebraska indicates that the recent disturbances at the financial center have been seized upon by security salesmen as a golden opportunity to earn commissions by suggesting switches.

The superior salesman, however, best serves himself by unselfishness toward others. His opportunity is to concentrate on offering prospects waht they want and need.

The lady who wrote to this column was not contacted by such a vendor. On the contrary, she and her retired 74-year-old husband were advised to switch from one mutual fund on which they had paid a load, or sales premium above book value, running up to 8½%, into a different fund with a similar load. The only beneficiary from the proposed switch would be the salesman. For the so-called income fund the group now owned recently outperformed the fund recommended. While both groups of funds have done reasonably well over the long pull, it doesn't make sense to get out of the one in which a stiff entry fee has been paid into another where one is due. In addition, the switch would further deplete capital through a liability in the form of a capital gain tax.

Long Term

Mutual funds are long term investment vehicles and trading is not recommended, especially for those out of touch with investment realities. The time to get out of a fund is when one finds that management has deteriorated — not because a commission-hungry vendor makes vague promises.

If a switch were indicated, there are a number of good performing "no-load" mutual funds, which sell at current net liquidating value. Funds perform differently in changing settings.

For example, the David L. Babson Investment Fund, a no-load fund, didn't perform as sensationally as some of the go-go-funds last year, but it performed at the top of the list of so-called quality growth issues in 1968 and in the first quarter of 1969 when many mutual funds were showing a decline in asset value, its percentage loss was less than average. A number of "no-load" funds showed up relatively well in both quality growth-type and performance-type categories.

Added Income

This couple draws Social Security and veterans pensions as well as a modest return on mutual fund commitments. Since spending money is desired, it would be better to supplement income with capital withdrawals, which some mutual funds can conceivably be offset by capital gains. But there is no guaranty that the fund won't be exhausted if the couple beats the actuarial tables and lives to a very ripe old age.

There is, however, a technique for transferring the risk of becoming overaged to a life insurance company through an annuity contract. If the wife is near the husband's age, they might have a chartered life underwriter submit figures for the cost of buying a joint and survivorship annuity, which would assure a monthly income as long as either spouse survives.

However, the payments, being in fixed dollars, offer no hedge against a further rise in the cost of living. This objective can be provided for through a new style variable annuity based on common stock investment.

Although the current pensions are in fixed dollars and some balance as between stock and fixed dollars (bonds) is desirable, there could be an improvement in income through buying well rated corporate bonds, which are in fixed dollars.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be handled in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Soybean Futures Gains Trimmed By Profit Taking

Chicago (AP) — Some old crop soybeans futures options advanced as much as 2½ cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday, but profit-taking late in the session brought lower closes.

Trade moved at only a fair pace through most of the session, but picked up momentum in the last hour. Volume for the day totaled an estimaed 75,450,000 bushels.

Wheat futures bulled ahead 1 cent on reports that rain might have forced a cutback in harvesting of the winter wheat crop in parts of the Southwest. These advances also were trimmed late in the session on profit-taking.

Rye prices closed on a mixed tone after a session of light dealings.

Corn futures opened on a weak tone, but strengthened under commission house and local buying which eased near the close.

Oats prices also closed on a mixed tone in largely local trade.

At the close, wheat was ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, July 1.25; corn was unchanged to ⅜ higher, July 1.26¾; oats were unchanged to ¼ higher, July 61 cents; rye was ½ lower to ¼ higher, July 1.14½; end soybeans were unchanged to 1½ higher, July 2.66¼.

'Soviets Could Easily Crush ABM'

© The New York Times

Washington — Three scientists contended Tuesday that the Soviet Union could easily overwhelm the administration's proposed Safeguard Antiballistic Missile Defense System (ABM) by adding fewer than 50 missiles to its attacking force.

In an analysis made public by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., three scientists from tists cont4nded Tuesday that the Massachusetts Institute of Technology renewed their complaint that Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird was "unduly discounting" Soviet problems in achieving a first-strike capability against the United States and "greatly overestimating" the effectiveness of he Safeguard ABM system in protecting this country's retaliatory capability.

The analysis was prepared by Dr. Jerome H. Wiesner, former science adviser to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson and now Provost at MIT; Dr. George W. Rathjens, professor of political science, and Dr. Steven Weinberg, professor of physics.

Citing conclusions in the study, Kennedy said in a statement that the analysis makes a "devastating case" on "how ineffective the Safeguard ABM really is."

Of particular significance, he said, "is the ease with which the Soviets could construct new ICBM's (Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles) with the specific purpose of neutralizing the ABM.

"It will take us five years — until 1974 — to have the first two ABM sites finished — asuming they are completed on schedule. Yet in three months at most, the Soviets could manufacture and deploy enough new missiles to offset completely our ABM. This hardly argues that the ABM is a wise expenditure," Kennedy said.

One possible Soviet tactic, the scientists, suggested, would be to concentrate the first salvo of warheads on the vulnerable missile site radar, which provides the guidance to the interceptor radars. The Safeguard system would then be compelled to use many of its interceptors to defend the radar, which they describe as the "achilles heel" of the system. This would leave many of the Minuteman silos undefended. Or the system could be knocked out compltely by destruction of the radar.

The Soviet Union could, they argued, overwhelm the entire system by firing enough warheads to exhaust all the interceptors and by then adding just enough warheads to knock out a large number of Minuteman silos.

As the scientists noted, it is just tiis saturation tactic that Dr. John S. Foster, director of defense research and engineering, told congress last year that the United States plans to use to counter the Soviet ABM system.

Executive Officer Of USS Pueblo Given Discharge

San Diego (UPI) — Lt. Edward R. Murphy, Jr., the executive officer of the USS Pueblo when it surrendered to the North Koreans in 1968, was honorably discharged from the Navy Monday in a private ceremony, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Murphy, 31, resigned his commission in late May after the findings of the Pueblo court of inquiry were made public. It was recommended that he be reprimanded, but Secretary of the Navy John H. Chafee later canceled the reprimand.

Recreation Area Reopening Soon

Arnold State Recreation Area near Arnold will be reopened Thursday to the public, State Game Commission Director Mel Steen announced.

Considerable wind damage last week had necessitated temporary closing of the park, he said.
